A family in town, who wishes not to be identified so as to not detract from their patriotic display, has constructed an electric flag and set it afloat on Silver Lake in Wilmington. ## Petingses push to purchase patriotic pins

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - In the wake of the tragedies on September 11, many citizens have rallied to support the spirit of patriotism and unity in their communities. Wilmington is no exception. Eleven-year old Jennifer Petings and her mother, Jackie, have brainstormed together for ideas to help promote community spirit and American pride and to raise money for the victim's families. They wanted their idea to include the children, residents and businesses of Wilmington. What they have come up with involves nifty pins for children, the contributions of local businesses, and a sacrifice of sweets on a certain spooky holiday at the end of this month.

"We were all upset with what happened in New York," says Mrs. Petings. "My daughter and I tried to think of something that symbolized patriotism and unity."

Mrs. Petings says that although the schools in the community are doing a wonderful job to help the children understand the crisis and keep up with their academics, her family wants to supplement that support. She also wants a symbol that the children can view as a sign of unity between themselves and their community that will help them show their support for local police and firefighters. What better symbol than a pin of the American flag? After all, President Bush and members of Congress can be seen wearing them on TV. The Petingses have contacted Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell, who agreed with them that it would be a wonderful idea to have pins for each students in all of the schools in the community.

The math, alas, makes such an idea a challenge. An individual pin can be purchased at the lower-than-usual price of $1.50, given the circumstances, but when you multiply that bargain by 4,000, which is the number of students in the community, it gets a little tricky to come up with the cash. Thus, the Petingses have a challenge that they wish to issue to local business owners, in which said merchants are invited to donate as much money as they can and help secure the purchase of these patriotic pins. Worry not, for the Petingses have put their money where their mouths are, in that they have already donated $1,000 to their cause. Such an amount has allowed them already to buy as many as 550 pins for the kids at the Shawshen Elementary School, where 7-year-old Steven Petings is a student.

The second part of the Petingses' plan offers the stu-

Town Counsel Newhouse officially sworn in

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - It's official. Michael Newhouse is Wilmington's Town Counsel.

In a brief ceremony at the Town Hall on the morning of Thursday, September 27, Newhouse raised his right hand and took an oath administered to him by Town Clerk Kay Scanlon. The occasion marked the first time in 35 years that a new Town Counsel was sworn in to serve the community in all of its legal matters. Attorney Alan Altman, who was first appointed Wilmington Town Counsel in 1966, has officially retired from the position.

"I feel great," Town Counsel Newhouse said moments after the ceremony. "I am excited to get started."

Newhouse, a graduate of Harvard University and the Suffolk University School of law, has had his own practice in Wilmington since 1994. A lifelong resident of Wilmington, he has also served on the Board of Selectmen and was at one time its chairman. After Altman announced his plans to retire late last spring, Newhouse resigned from his post as selectman in June, so that he could pursue the position of Town Counsel without a conflict of interest.

Said Newhouse, "This is the perfect opportunity for me to use my skills and experience as an attorney and continue to be a part of the town."

In August, Newhouse bested three other finalists out of a pool of ten other applicants throughout Wilmington and the Commonwealth who expressed interest in the job. By a vote of three to two, he was appointed as Town Counsel by the Board of Selectmen at its meeting on August 13. From here on in, it will be the duty of the selectmen to annually determine whether or not Newhouse will be re-appointed to the position in the years to come. During his tenure, Town Counsel Newhouse will operate under the direction of the selectmen and Town Manager Michael Cairra.

Taking a trip back to Weinberg's Department Store

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School Class of 1961 recently held its 40th reunion. One of the people who attended that reunion was Mike Weinberg. Another was Rose Dukus Henneberger. They also went to a smaller reunion at the Whitefield School, as did Rose's mother, Emily. Emily was a Babine, and she attended the Whitefield School, too. Seeing their pictures in a recent edition of the Town Crier brought to mind Weinberg's Department Store.

Fifty years ago, Wilmington Center was a busy place. There was no Wilmington Plaza in those days. In the Center, otherwise known as the Square, you had a First National Store, a movie theater, Church Street Hardware, Altman's meat market, Wilmington Center Pharmacy, George's Restaurant, Huntley's Lunch, Poole's Bakery, and several other

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts Foundation announces grant guidelines

BOSTON - With a mission to expand access to health care, the Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts (BCBSMA) Foundation has announced its grant-making eligibility requirements and application process.

The Foundation was launched in February 2001 with an endowment from BCBSMA of $55 million over a four year period. The Foundation was created to broaden health care coverage and reduce barriers to care for Massachusetts residents through public policy initiatives and community partnerships.

Foundation President Andrew Dreyfus said the Foundation will fund initiatives that will spark innovation and strengthen services and support for low income and uninsured residents in Massachusetts. The major areas of grant making will support policy initiatives for access, services for the uninsured and connections to providers and services. The Foundation will accept and review grant application through this fall, and make awards in December, 2001.

*Strengthening the Voice for Health Care Access will provide grants to Massachusetts organizations for promoting the interests of uninsured and under-served residents. The goal is to strengthen community based policy activities, increase citizen participation in public policy development and promote collaboration among policy and advocacy organizations on health care access issues. Grants will range from $15,000 to $50,000 depending on the size and scope of the proposed program.

*Innovation Fund for the Uninsured grants will be made to programs designed to improve health care services to the uninsured and medically under-served in Massachusetts. The goal is to improve health outcomes and more cost-effective care through prevention and medical management. Grants will range from $25,000 to $75,000.

*Connecting Consumers with Care grants will fund programs that help ensure low income residents understand and receive the health care services to which they are entitled. The program goal is to strengthen community based efforts to ensure that consumers. Grants will range from $10,000 to $20,000.

For more details on the grant eligibility criteria and information about the Foundation, visit www.bcbsmafoundation.org.

It's Your Money by Joyce Brisbois

THE NEW TAX LAW: TAX RATES

You've probably already seen the first sign of the new tax law: a refund check from the IRS. Ranging from $300 for a single filer to $600 for a couple filing jointly, the amount of the rebate is based on the taxes you paid for the year 2000. Any past due federal or state taxes, other federal debts or past due child support will be deducted from your check.

Note, too, that your paycheck withholding tax has been reduced to reflect the lower tax rates retroactive to January 1. A new 10-percent bracket will now cover the first $6,000 for singles, $12,000 for married filing jointly and $10,000 for head of household. The percentage bracket will be slightly higher in 2008. The higher brackets start dropping this year, too: from 39.6 percent to 38.6, from 36 to 35 percent, from 31 to 30 and from 28 to 27. The rates will go down again in 2004 and 2006, but will return to the old levels in 2011.

More good news: a gradually increased standard deduction for married couples will help wipe out the "marriage penalty."

How will the new tax law affect you? Talk it over with the tax-and-finance people at

Proudly and Correctly

In the weeks since the terrorist attacks on September 11, the waving of hundreds of American flags throughout the community has been one of the sites to most stir our patriotism and fill our hearts.

The following, which is derived from the Boy Scouts of America handbook and was supplied to the Town Crier by reader Cheryl Reynolds, is an outline of the proper way in which Old Glory should be proudly displayed.

It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaves in the open. However, when a patriotic effect is desired, the flag may be displayed 24 hours a day if properly illuminated during the hours of darkness.

The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.

The flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement, except when an all weather flag is displayed.

The flag should be displayed daily, on or near the main administration building of every public institution - in or near every polling place on election days - during school days in or near every school house.

No other flag or pennant should be placed above or, if on the same level, to the right of the flag of the United States of America, except during church services conducted by naval chaplains at sea - for personnel of the Navy...when the church pennant may be flown above the flag.

No person shall display the flag of the United Nations or any other national or international flag equal, above, or in a position of superior prominence or honor to, or in place of, the flag of the United States at any place within the United States or any Territory or possession thereof: Provided that nothing in this section shall make unlawful the continuance of the practice heretofore allowed of displaying the flag of the United Nations in a position of superior prominence or honor, with that of the flag of the United States at the headquarters of the United Nations.

The flag of the United States of America, when it is displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs, should be on the right, the flag's own right, and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

The flag of the United States of America should be at the center and at the highest point of the group when a number of flags of States or localities or pennants of societies are grouped and displayed from staffs.

When flags of States, cities, or localities or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the flag of the United States, the latter should always be at the peak. When the flags are flown from adjacent staffs, the flag of the United States should be hoisted first and lowered last. No such flag or pennant may be placed above the flag of the United States or to the United States flag's right.

When flags of two or more nations are displayed, they are to be flown from separate staffs of the same height. The flags should be of approximately equal size. International usage forbids the display of the flag of one nation above that of another nation in time of peace.

When the flag of the United States is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony, or front of a building, the union of the flag should be placed at the peak of the staff unless the flag is at half staff. When the flag is suspended above a sidewalk from a rope extending from a house to a pole at the edge of the sidewalk, the flag should be hoisted out, union first, from the building.

When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, that is, to the observer's left. When displayed in a window, the flag should be displayed in the same way, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

When the flag is displayed over the middle of the street, it should be suspended vertically with the union to the North in an East and West street or to the East in a North and South street. The flag should never be displayed with the union down, except as a signal of dire distress in instances of extreme danger to life or property.

The flag should never touch anything beneath it, such as the ground, the floor, water or merchandise.

The flag should never be fastened, displayed, used or stored in such a manner as to permit it to be easily torn, soiled or damaged in any way.

The flag should never be used as a covering for a ceiling.

The flag should never have placed upon it, nor in any part of it, nor attached to it any mark, insignia, letter, word, figure, design, picture, or drawing of any nature.

The flag should never be used as a receptacle for receiving, holding, carrying or delivering anything.

The flag should not be draped over the hood, top, sides, or back of a vehicle or of a railroad train or boat. When the flag is displayed on a motorcar, the staff shall be firmly fixed to the chassis or clamped to the right fender.

Letters to the Editor

A voice from the peace movement . . .

Dear Editor:

As a member of the Merrimack Valley People for Peace, I would like to extend my heartfelt sympathies to the victims of the September 11th attack, to the Arab-Americans who presently are being victimized, to the suffering people of Afghanistan, and to the thousands of refugees who are fleeing that country. While the United States is trying to decide whether or not to take military action, I would like to advocate peaceful means to break the cycle of violence. As Gandhi wisely pointed out, "An eye for an eye only ends up making the whole world blind."

I am encouraged that the United States is working with other countries, and sincerely hope we will continue to work with the United Nations to pursue and capture the perpetrators using International Law and the United States Constitution as guides. The United States must continue to be clear-headed in its actions. Let us not do what the terrorists did to us: target innocent civilians.

We are a strong nation and a good people. As the U.S. seeks to build a multinational coalition, we at Merrimack Valley People for Peace ask that our country reaffirm our commitment to the democratic principles upon which it was founded. We also ask our country to demonstrate true maturity and ethics by relinquishing the self-centered view that has dominated our foreign policy since the end of World War II. We call upon the United States to cease:

- arming and training terrorists as we armed and trained Osama bin Laden during the Soviet-Afghan war in 1979;
- defoliating Colombia, poisoning the land and sickening villagers;

- teaching terrorism to central American military leaders at the School of the Americas, now the Western Hemisphere Institute for Security Cooperation;
- limiting access to fresh water, food, and medicine in Iraq, thereby killing one million civilians.

It is time for all nations, including the United States, to stop the insanity of terrorism and to join together for the common good of the world. By initiating policies that end poverty and oppression for everyone, and that value all people everywhere, no matter what their religion, race, or nationality, we will demonstrate to the world that we are not just a superpower, but a great nation. Together, we need to work towards eliminating poverty, discrimination, and despair, which are some of the root causes of terrorism.

The terrorists who threaten our country must be found and brought to justice, but bombing countries that host terrorists will not solve the problem and will not make us safe. Knowing the grave danger a war with the weapons of mass destruction available in the world poses, I believe that Martin Luther King, Jr. was right in his assessment of our situation. "The choice is not between violence and nonviolence, but between nonviolence and non-existence." Let us remember our democratic principles, and stand proudly and peacefully.

There is strength, hope in the human spirit

Dear Editor:

I have felt a desperate need to write, but ever since Tuesday, September 11, words have failed me. Even now, exactly two weeks after the terrorist attack, doing this is difficult. It is an emotional shock that goes beyond shock and into some other realm that we have never experienced in America.

The memory of September 11 is unspeakably painful, and for the first time in my life writing down my feelings does not soften my pain. Placed indelibly in our minds, as Americans and as human beings worldwide, are the images that terrorize, the blackest of nightmares awakening our sleep with screams.

The unfathomable losses are incomprehensible, but we must carry on. There is strength in the human spirit and hope. Emily Dickinson's beautiful words express this: "Hope is the thing with feathers that perches in the soul, that sings the tune without the words, and never stops at all." And the sign in front of St. William's Church summed it up succinctly: "Pray."

I fervently support our country's battle against terrorism. I have always been deeply proud of our nation. My father served in the Navy during World War II, and my heart has always belonged to our country.

The following poem is my prayer for our country and for world peace:

Upon purple mountains' majesties
There is peace in sunlight
Birds' bright feathers
And babies in the womb
Our world's peace
Shattered
Yet life will not Succumb
And climbs up
Thick green ivy
Upon the gold gray stone
Growing tenaciously
Leaf to leaf
No leaf alone.

North Intermediate School comes through for the Red Cross

Dear Editor:

Fourth and fifth grade students from the North Intermediate School raised $1,385 for the American Red Cross. Students collected extra change from Wednesday, Sept. 19 through Wednesday Sept. 26. Students contributed extra change left over from lunches, coins that sat in jars at home and even donated dollars from extra chores that they did around their homes.

During last Friday's assembly at the North Intermediate School, representatives from each class presented their collections to Principal Michele Norton. One teacher commented how proud the students felt to be able to help the victims of the September 11th tragedy.

Thank you to all the girls and boys who contributed!

Letter to the Editor

Blood drive collects record number of pints

Dear Editor:
On September 11, 2001, tragic events in New York City, Washington, D.C. and Pennsylvania called many people to action to assist those in desperate need. Hundreds of volunteers worked countless hours to find survivors, console friends and family members, and donate life-saving blood to the service of other Americans. Rotary is an organization whose very history is based on the motto of "Service Above Self." We applaud the heroic actions of all volunteers and relief workers who have dedicated their time to help victims and their families.
Their spirit inspired our Rotary Club to do whatever we could to help the relief effort. On Thursday, September 20, the Tewksbury Rotary Club teamed up with the Wilmington Elks and held a blood drive to benefit the Red Cross at the Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks Club. As a result, the Red Cross collected 92 pints of blood, which is a significant increase over the 60 pints it typically collects during a drive.

We extend our appreciation to Tewksbury and Wilmington residents and all of those persons who volunteered their time to help make this blood drive a success. Thank you, and God bless you.

Sincerely,
Donna Gager

Petinges push to purchase patriotic pins

dents and their families an opportunity to donate any amount of money, from a few pennies to whatever a family can afford, to the National Relief Fund. The schools are also conducting their own fund-raising efforts, and this project will support those efforts. Students are encouraged to bring their donations to the schools.

Now for the third segment of the Petinges' plan. This Halloween, Jennifer will dress patriotically in the red, white and blue colors of the American flag. When she goes trick-or-treating from door-to-door, she will have a specially-made container in her grasp, not a sack for snacks. She will ask for monetary donations, not candy. The Petinges will donate all funds to the American-Red Cross. Again, the Petinges have already put their money where their mouths are, for Jennifer had a birthday recently and donated all cash gifts to the Red Cross.

"We wanted this to show solidarity in the community as well as support for the local fire and police departments, the Emergency Medical Technicians and the families devastated by the tragedy," says Mrs. Petinge. "It's important that we also extend our support to the children in the community and show them that we all stand united."

Funds received for the pins will go directly to the manufacturer. This is part of a philanthropic endeavor and all donations are tax-deductible. Surplus amounts received in excess of the cost for the pins will be donated directly to the Disaster Relief Fund. If funds are insufficient to order the remaining pins, all donation checks will be returned or forwarded to other relief funds, if requested.

Care to join in the effort to purchase those pins? For more details on how you can help, please call the Petinges at (978) 657-6038.

Striking the balance with affordable housing

"Many people are finding it difficult to stay and live in Wilmington as property values and tax bills soar."

For years, the Town of Wilmington has strived to meet a state requirement that demands that 10% of the community's housing be affordable. In Stevenson's opinion, the town's efforts have been unsuccessful because residents have resisted having "low income" houses built in their neighborhoods. Others, maintain Stevenson, have opposed the breaking of local zoning by-laws by developers applying under the state's comprehensive permit process.

"Wilmington's housing stock is predominantly single family residences, and surveys over the years indicate that the majority of people in Wilmington want affordable housing to look the same," says Stevenson. "But trying to keep pace with the 10% requirement is impossible to do one house at a time."

According to Stevenson, the forum to be held on October 18 will address the issue of how affordable housing can be provided in Wilmington without changing its character and overwhelming departments that provide municipal services.

"How do we resolve the dilemma between needing affordable housing but not wanting it when a development is proposed in our own backyard?" asks Stevenson.

The forum is open to the public, so residents are encouraged to attend.

"We'll be exploring a number of options," says Stevenson. "We'll be taking a look at innovative solutions that are being tried in other communities. We'll also be examining current legislative initiatives that are seeking to Massachusetts' affordable housing laws."

Taking a trip back to Weinberg's Department Store

stores. One of those stores was Weinberg's.

Morris Weinberg came to town in the 1920s and settled off Salem Street. There was a growing Jewish community there, with a synagogue and a Jewish bakery. Morris began his business going door-to-door, selling socks and other small clothing items. He carried his merchandise in a large backpack.

Before long, he was able to open a store, next to the theater, on Main Street. After a few years, his son, Myer, came into the business. Myer, known as Mike, was a natural salesman, with a broad grin and an easy-going manner. He did very well and eventually took over the store.

About 1950, Mike built a new store, next to Cavanaugh's Funeral Home, where the MassBank office now stands. He and his wife Crysille had two children, Mike and Nancy. Crys worked at Winchester Hospital. They built a beautiful house on Burlington Avenue, at the corner of Roberts Road.

In the 1950s, Mike had 21 women working for him. One of them was Emily Dukus. She worked for Mike for 22 years, and ran the store for the last five years of its operation.

club, and champions in several divisions. Two of the top skaters were Mike and Nancy Weinberg. In the late 1950s, Mike Jr. was a world champion barrel jumper in the juniors division. And Nancy was the darling of the town, holding a North American championship in the midget division.

One cannot talk about speed skating in Wilmington without mentioning the name Jeanne Ashworth, Wilmington's Olympic champion. She dominated her class in speed skating in the 1950s, and then went to two winter Olympics in 1960 and 1964, where she won a bronze medal.

And there were many other champions. A generation grew up in Wilmington realizing that they had what it takes to be champions. And most of those kids got their skates at Weinberg's.

The speed skating boom in Wilmington climaxed in 1959, when the Northeast Regionals were held here. The races were held on the rink on Chestnut Street, in Rotary Park and on Silver Lake. There were about 2,500 or 3,000 people in town for the races.

It was just about the same time that Wilmington Plaza was started. It started with DeMoulas' supermarket, but him to the store and then go to work herself.

And then one evening on her way home from work, she was killed in a head-on collision in North Andover. The man who hit her was drunk and on the wrong side of the road. A couple of years later, the same man killed a father and daughter from Reading on Route 3 in Nashua. Again, he was drunk, and it became a major scandal. His father, a police sergeant in North Andover, had arranged for him to get his license back.

Without Crys, Mike went into a nursing home, and he didn't last long.

The store closed in 1979. The property was bought by the Reading Savings Bank, which tore down the store and put up a new office. A couple of years later, Reading Savings and Melrose Savings merged to become MassBank.

Mike Weinberg Jr. lives in New Mexico. His sister Nancy is in Maryland. And Emily Dukus is working for Cooke's Skates, which is located in the old theater building, next door to where Weinberg's started out, some 70-odd years ago.

Crysille Weinberg (left) and two friends held a bake sale at Weinberg's Department Store to support the Wilmington Skating Club.

By today's standards, it would not be considered a big store, but for 1950, it was quite the place. Mike carried clothing and shoes. You wouldn't go there to have a suit made, but you could get a nice sportjacket and slacks. He carried good lines of children's clothing and good shoes. He refused to carry cheap imports.

Mike, like his father, was quite generous. They each gave away practically everything they had by the time they died. Mrs. Dukus told of one woman who came into the store penniless on Christmas Eve. Mike took her around the store and allowed her to take what she wanted, and told her she could pay him whenever she got some money.

"Those type of men are not around any more," said Mrs. Dukus.

One other line that Mike got into was skates. In the 1950s, Wilmington had a very active skating club. The old South School on Chestnut Street became its clubhouse, and a small pond in back was excavated to a size necessary for speed-skating races. There were hundreds of kids in the before long, there was a discount department store. And it clobbered Weinberg's. People would go to Simon's for the cheap goods, and some who wanted quality would go all the way to the North Shore Shopping Center to buy the same brands Weinberg's carried.

Mike fought a good fight, and it took a long time, but the store wasn't the same. Mike eventually started selling penny candy, and he dropped many of the clothing lines that had been so successful. In the 1970s, he divided the store in two and rented out space to Cumberland Farms.

Then it was learned that Mike had cancer. Again, he put up a good fight. And he kept coming back to work. He had magnificent spirits. Bald from radiation treatments and very, very sick, he'd still be at the store with a smile on his face. Emily Dukus stuck with him and kept the store going.

The rock that held Mike together was Crys. She was everything to him, supporting him physically and emotionally. They had moved to North Andover, and she would drive

Gustin's chapel a haven for outdoor worship

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - This should help Eagle Scout candidate Jason Gustin earn his wings.

Jason, a Wilmington resident and member of Scout Troop 56, spent more than a year raising money and constructing an outdoor chapel at St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Church on Forest Street. On Sunday, September 23, Jason saw the completed fruits of his labor dedicated to Lil Holahan, a parishioner who gave much to her community and spent much time worshipping in the 101 years that spanned her life.

Jason, the son of Michael and Joanne Gustin, who attend another church in town, worked with a family friend, Randi

Holland, to create the chapel. Holland, who is a member of St. Elizabeth's Church, is an architect with a firm in Boston, so she was able to help her young protegee design a chapel that could seat many and inspire worship under sunny skies.

With a blueprint in place, Jason raised funds for the materials to construct the chapel. He collected donations from family and friends, and, at one point, he and his scout troop even held an all-day car wash. Once an appropriate amount of money was raised, he recruited family members and fellow scouts to pitch in, clear some trees, and build the chapel benches and the fieldstone altar that you can see in pictures alongside this article.

During the September 23 dedication service, Reverend Joseph Pinho took a moment and thanked Jason for his outstanding example of service and hard work.

"What a great young man," says Reverend Pinho during an interview with the Town Crier. "If anybody drives by our church, then they should pull over and stop and look at what he did. Our parish is absolutely delighted."

According to Reverend Pinho, Jason's chapel fits in well with the church's five-year plan to beautify and expand its property. In the past couple of years, St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Chapel has seen a new asphalt parking lot built on its premises, new signs erected, and a fresh coat of paint added on the outside.

"Jason's chapel seats about 60 people," says Reverend Pinho. "In the late spring, we hope to hold Sunday services outdoors. In the summertime, we even hope to let people have small, intimate weddings there."

In devoting his time, heart and energy to building an outdoor chapel in his community, Jason has guaranteed his eagle's wings as a scout. In the process, he may have also secured another kind of wings as well.

Children invited to Halloween Harvest

WILMINGTON - Sparky's Puppets return once again on Tuesday, October 16 at 7 p.m. with Halloween Harvest, a program for children ages two and a half to five and families. See Brer Rabbit sneak into the pumpkin patch. Watch a mischievous goblin try to trick a hard working farmer at harvest time. Join in the grasshopper's song as the ant prepares for winter.

Favorite children's stories are dramatized with colorful hand puppets, lively humor and plenty of audience participation.

Free tickets for the event will be made available beginning on Tuesday, October 9 and may be reserved by calling the Children's Room (978) 694-2098. This program is funded through the Community Partnerships for Children grant by the Massachusetts Department of Education.

Family/Story Crafts

Family Story Time and Crafts, a drop-in 40 minute program for children ages five and up and caregivers will feature Owls on Wednesday, October 10, at 6:30 p.m.

Staff Favorites For The Fall

Reference Librarian, Terri Boudette has compiled a list of the fall favorites recommended by the library staff. This list is available as a handout at the library.

Block, Barbara. Blowing Smoke. Robin Light owner of an exotic pet store is also a P.I. on the side. She is hired by a rich woman's children to see if their mother is the victim of a scam artist. The plot thickens as murders abound and all the children try to keep their own secrets from their mother.

Brown, Sandra. Envy. Brown has outdone herself with this one. The prologue to a new novel captivates the attention of Maris Reed, a prominent editor. While working with this author her life is turned upside down. The elusive author is using Maris to avenge a shocking crime from his past.

Fielding, Joy. See Jane Run. When Jane Whittaker finds herself alone on the streets of Boston, with blood on her dress and $10,000 in her pocket, she is confused and terrified because she cannot remember who she is. As her identity is revealed, there are more questions without answers. This suspenseful book is a fast paced story that the reader will not be able to put down until the last page.

MacPherson, Malcolm. The Cowboy and the Elephant. As an animal lover this was the most moving story I have ever read. It follows the life of an orphaned baby elephant named Amy, who is lucky to be adopted by a warm and loving cowboy, named Bob, who is without question animal's best friend. Both their lives are forever changed by this experience.

Margolin, Phillip. The Associate. This novel is a mystery within a mystery and it is fantastic. A lawyer is accused of killing his boss after he is fired. A seven year old kidnapping and murder ties into the crime. This one has it all; conspiracies, murder, suspense, romance, lawsuits and lost loves.

Howard, Linda. Open Season. Daisy is a small town librarian who decides her boring life needs some changes. She gets herself a makeover and tries out the nightclub scene. Then she inadvertently witnesses a murder and becomes the killer's next target. This story is funny, witty and warm.

Columbus Day

The library will be closed Monday, October 8 in observance of Columbus Day.

Bookends

Bookends, the library's book discussion group, will meet on Thursday, October 4 at 7 p.m. to discuss Joy Street by Mirren Barford.

IPAC Demonstration

Reference staff will be available to offer a demonstration of the library's online catalog iPac from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Thursday, October 11. This is an informal drop in program to encourage patrons to learn how to take full advantage of the library's online catalog. The staff will demonstrate how to find material, place to reserve on material and have it sent to the library of your choice. The staff will also demonstrate other new patron features available online including renewing your own library material.

DiFava to make friendlier skies over Logan

his B.A. in sociology from Long Island University in Southampton, New York in 1973. Before becoming superintendent, he held the ranks of lieutenant colonel in command of the Division of Field Services in 1998 and 1999. Before that, between the years of 1996 and 1998, he was a major as the commander of Troop H, the department's largest and most urban division.

Earlier in his State Police career, he served as the commanding officer of the Marine Unit, the station commander at Logan Airport, and the team leader of the special reaction team and the underwater recovery unit. He is a skilled scuba diver and underwater photographer.

DiFava, who also has a Master's degree from Boston University, has been the State Police liaison to the gay and lesbian community and the department representative to the Massachusetts Office of Emergency Services. He has taught at Western New England College and the State Police Academy and was a guest instructor for the Massachusetts Criminal Justice Training Council.

When the 45 days of his assignment at Logan Airport is complete, DiFava plans to start a new job as head of security at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a position that he accepted this summer and was to begin on October 15.

Town Counsel Newhouse officially sworn in

"I am going to have to perform for the selectmen," said Newhouse.

According to Town Manager Cairra, who attended and witnessed the oath-taking ceremony, Newhouse became the obvious choice to succeed Altman when he gave his formal presentation during two nights of interviews that took place between the selectmen and the four finalists in early August.

"Anybody in the audience that night would know that Mike gave a great presentation," said Town Manager Cairra. "He brought an edge and a known quality. He has been working pro bono alongside Alan Altman for five or six weeks now, and he's done a very good job."

Newhouse's wife, Kerry, who joined her husband at his swearing-in ceremony, agreed. "I'm extremely proud of him," she said. "He has worked very hard."

As for Newhouse's predecessor, Altman plans to remain active at the law practice that he operates on Main Street. Altman, who Cairra hails as "one of the state's foremost experts in municipal law," wrote as many as 450 opinions and tried or settled over 600 cases during the 35 years that he served as Wilmington's Town Counsel. The 1943 graduate of Wilmington High School succeeded Philip Buzzell when he was appointed to the position in 1966.

When asked to reflect on his tenure as Town Counsel, Altman says, "It was a labor of love with the bonus of a paycheck at the end of each month."

In his capacity as Town Counsel, Newhouse will represent Wilmington in the prosecution and in the defense of legal actions in the federal and state courts. Each year, Newhouse will also report to the selectmen the outcomes of all of the cases that he will represent. In addition, he will perform such duties as drafting Town Charter amendments, contracts and agreements, deeds, easements and leases. Furthermore, Newhouse will represent the town in all of its real estate settlements and review all special permits that are issued by the Planning Board.

Town Counsel Newhouse will also become a familiar face at Town Meetings, where he will be on hand to advise the town moderator and respond to any legal questions that may arise as residents vote on articles. Prior to such meetings, Newhouse must also review each article and ensure that they are legally sound.

As for the cases that he will handle for the community,

Newhouse sees the legal matters surrounding the Route 38 project as being an "interesting chapter" that is "high" on his list of priorities. At the ceremony on Thursday morning, he described his tenure as a selectman as a "tremendous advantage" that will come in handy when representing the community during the Route 38 construction.

"As a selectman, I was involved in the Route 38 project," said Newhouse. "As a result, I'm able to pick up the ball and run with it because I am familiar with the case."

Newhouse, who in 1998 unsuccessfully sought a seat at the state house in Boston in a bid to unseat Representative James Miceli, says that he is happiest working here in Wilmington.

"I love this town," says Newhouse. "I don't want to be anywhere else."

RMLD begins winter rates

READING - Effective October 1, 2001, the Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) will implement its winter rate structure. These winter rates, which are lower than summer rates, are in effect until May 31, 2002.

The RMLD has a two rate structure because it can buy wholesale electricity at a lower cost during the late fall, winter and early spring months.

"Since we are able to purchase electricity at a lower rate during these months, we are able to pass these savings directly onto our customers," RMLD General Manager Len Rucker said. "This is another benefit of our status as a not-for-profit, locally owned municipal electric utility."

Although oil and natural gas prices have remained stable during the past few months, customers should still take energy conservation measures to conserve electricity in their residences and businesses.

For further information about the RMLD, including its seasonal rate structure, call the RMLD at 781-944-1340.

FORGIVING YOURSELF

Survivors often experience feelings of guilt when a loved one dies. They may ask themselves why they did not express their love more than they did. Or, they may linger on hurtful words or actions they once directed at the deceased. The thing to remember is that it is scarcely possible to love someone without experiencing hurt at one time or another. We may feel helpless with our guilt because a loved one may not be around to ask his or her forgiveness. Yet, we may still ask for forgiveness. Most importantly, we must forgive ourselves. Bear this in mind if you have asked God for forgiveness countless times. Forgive yourself, love yourself, and let go of your guilt.

Many people also find relief from guilt when they realize that the person for whom they are grieving would not want them to feel guilty. At Farmer & Dee Funeral Home, we are experienced at assisting grieving families in planning beautiful ceremonies. If you would like any further information, please don't hesitate to call us.

Soroka completes basic training

WILMINGTON - Marine Corps Pfc. Anthony F. Soroka, son of Arlene and Anthony Soroka of Chapman Avenue, Wilmington, and a 1999 graduate of Wilmington High School, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

Soroka successfully completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally.

Soroka and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m. by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Soroka spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand to hand combat and assorted weapons training. They performed close order drill and operated as a small infantry unit during field training.

Soroka and other recruits also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values - honor, courage and commitment, and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

Soroka and fellow recruits ended the training phase with the Crucible, a 54 hour team effort, problem solving evolution which culminated with an emotional ceremony in which the recruits were presented the Marine Corps Emblem, and were addressed as "Marines" for the first time since boot camp began.

"THE BIG GAME!"

WILMINGTON (4-0) VS. PENTUCKET (4-0)

'Cats seek revenge ... again

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

It has been almost a full presidential term since the last time the Wilmington football team beat Cape Ann League-rival Pentucket.

The undefeated Wildcats (4-0) will look to put an end to the head-to-head losing streak at three games against Pentucket when the two teams meet Saturday at Alumni Field.

"I really felt we were more talented than them the last three years, but they're probably a little more talented than we are this year," said Wilmington head coach Bob Almeida, his team fresh off a win over North Reading on Friday. "I think they're the best team in the league. So, to beat them is going to be a good effort, but we expect our kids to prepare as hard as we can."

Wilmington will try as hard as it can to avoid the same fate of the past three years, including the last two when Pentucket cost the Wildcats a trip to the Super Bowl.

Last year Pentucket defeated Wilmington, 17-13, in front of 1,500 fans at Pentucket Regional High. Wilmington played without starters Bobby French and Mike Herra, while quarterback Josh Hiltz had a badly torn hamstring. Wilmington led 13-10, but a penalty flag on a huge third down play (a sack) resulted in a first down and a touchdown for Pentucket.

Pentucket went on to the Super Bowl and lost to Bishop Fenwick, whose assisted coach is WHS Softball Coach Paul Lyman.

The year before the two teams went into overtime and Wilmington was stuffed at the line of scrimmage going for the two-point conversion to win the game.

Wilmington lost 14-13. Pentucket went onto the Super Bowl and defeated Bridgewater-Raynham.

In 1997, Wilmington led 14-0 going into the fourth quarter and Pentucket scored 21 unanswered points to win, 21-14.

Of Wilmington's 11 losses since Bob Almeida has been the head coach, three of them have come to Pentucket, all three of them very disheartening defeats.

Beating undefeated Pentucket (4-0) will mean stopping the run for the Wildcats.

"I know they've got the great fullback in (Ken) Bianchi, and they've got an excellent running back (Paul Ragaglia), probably one of the top in the league," said Almeida.

Pentucket's rushing attack features Bianchi, Ragaglia, running back Matt McComish and fullback Drew Vetere. The quarterback is Mike Blomberg.

"In the past they've been able to throw the ball, but they don't seem to be throwing the ball the way they have in the past," said Almeida. "But they probably haven't had to."

"We probably run more than we throw," said Pentucket head coach Steve Hayden, whose team beat Amesbury, 40-0, on Saturday behind Ragaglia's 109 rushing yards and three touchdowns. "We've had to throw, but we still run more than we throw."

Of course, Wilmington knows all about running more than throwing. Senior George Godding - 124 yards rushing and two touchdowns in the win over North Reading - leads the Wildcats' rush attack, with help from junior Derek Hanley and, if healthy, sophomore Dave DeMango.

"Wilmington will be a tough test," said Hayden. "They've got a great back in Godding. He can breakout any time. He's big, strong and fast."

If Wilmington gets to throw at all, senior Mike Herra's favorite target seems to be tight end Jay Riley. Nick Gennetti, Steve Ciulla and Chris Derian are also available if Herra wants to dial long distance.

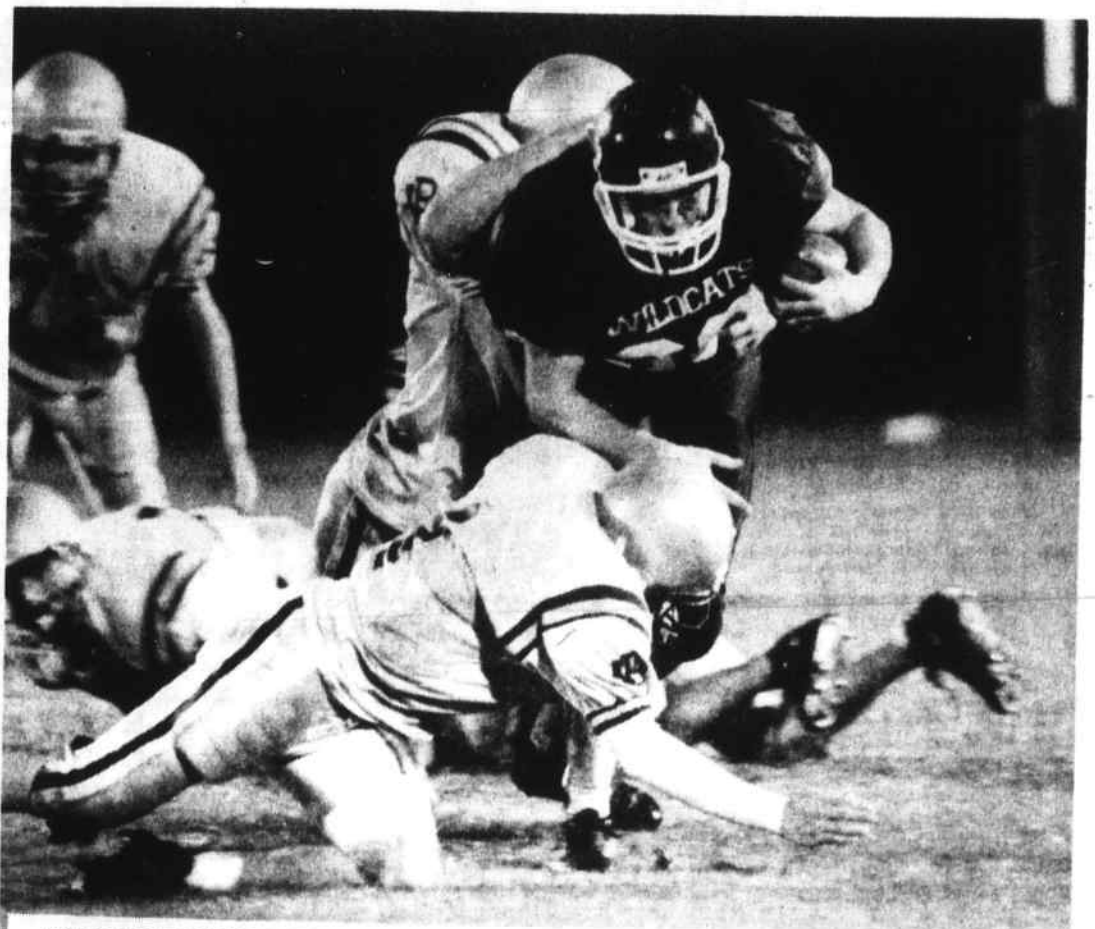

"Obviously, we'd like to throw the ball more successfully," said Almeida. "We'll keep trying to strike that balance. But Pentucket's a really well coached defense, so they're not going to give you anything."

Defensively, Pentucket lines up with Josh McAuliffe, David Trickett, Tim Crowley, Chris Keyser and Eric Countie on the line. Matt Lovett and Vetere play linebacker, while Jason Fish, Brian Griffiths (who was the hero in last year's game with the game winning TD reception, a 40-yard field goal and a 58-yard punt), Peter Valli and Ragaglia play defensive back.

The Wildcats counter with a defense which features Hanley, Matt Dorothy and Mike Senarian at the linebacker positions. They'll have to be careful to not get too aggressive in their pursuit of Pentucket's runners.

If Almeida is right and Pentucket has won the last three meetings between the two schools with less talent, then Wilmington should be in the driver's seat this season. However, talent usually wins out and so the pick here is Pentucket 22, Wilmington 19.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5 AT ALUMNI FIELD, WILMINGTON HIGH 7:00 PM

WILMINGTON HIGH SENIOR BACK GEORGE GODDING heads up field during Friday night's win over North Reading. Godding hopes he can do that a lot more on Friday when Pentucket comes to town. (Photo by Joe Hakey).

A few suggestions for the game

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

This Friday the 'Cats face Pentucket Regional at home at 7:00 pm. Both teams are undefeated and the 'Cats haven't beat the Sachems since 1997.

On paper Pentucket is the better team. They are the two-time league champions, and they know what it takes to win in the big games. And they also know how to beat Wilmington - for some reason they've had the 'Cats number.

So my suggestion is this for the Wilmington High team: don't worry about a win or a loss so much. Just be the more physical team. Early on give them several big hits so they know you are for real and ready to take it to them. Constantly run around crazy on the field giving them crushing hits. Maybe you'll wear them out. Maybe you'll cause a big turnover. Maybe you'll intimidate them.

Case in point, Sunday's New England Patriots win over Indianapolis Colts, a team on paper that is much better than the hometown team.

"Watching the film, the one edge we felt we had was being more physical," Lawyer Milloy told the Boston Herald. "The tempo was set when Bryan [Cox] hit [Jerome Pathon] over the middle. I don't know how many balls they dropped after that, but it was definitely a factor."

Set the tone, and perhaps you'll be able to celebrate a big upsetting win, just like the Patriots did on Sunday.

P.S. Don't go overboard and get penalized for late hits, misconducts and holding calls - and also be classy, not dirty (not that you ever been, but just want to make sure).

My prediction: Well the last two years I've predicted Wilmington to beat Pentucket and both times the hometown team lost. And the last two teams I've predicted Wilmington to lose against Hamilton-Wenham and Tewksbury, they've won.

That said, I don't want to chance the luck here, since I'd love to see the 'Cats finally beat Pentucket. So to keep things stirring I'll predict the 'Cats to lose 20-19. That way they'll win.

WILMINGTON HIGH FOOTBALL COACH BOB ALMEIDA hopes his team can end Pentucket's three game winning streak against his club on Friday night. (Photo by Joe Hakey).

Football Season

Half-way mark approaches

High School Football Notebook

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It's just about at the halfway mark of the high school football season. Through four weeks of the season, Wilmington stands at 4-0, Shawsheen is 3-1 and Tewksbury is 1-3.

My thoughts thus far?
Tewksbury looks to get back on track

Tewksbury is struggling. There's no question about that. Yes they have had a very hard schedule thus far, yes their starting quarterback Mike Rocco got injured in the team's first game, and yes, they've had their share of dropped passes and penalties which have hurt them. On the plus side their defense continues to impress. Offensively they have struggled, but I really think after watching them this past Friday that things will turn around.

For the most part I really like what Tewksbury did. They left their running game to two backs, Steve Kasprzak and Bob Ullo and I think that's a better plan than having four or five backs take turns. I say that because a lot of backs like getting into the groove - and since football is basically all about repetition, I think Kasprzak and Ullo can get the running game established enough so it can be a threat over these last seven games.

As for their passing game, I think the team has found a big play guy in Matt McGinnis. Almost every catch he's made hasn't been the easiest one, yet he somehow - because of his incredible concentration - comes down to the football. Why not throw to him a lot more?

Tewksbury has basically a brand new team and I don't think anyone could expect them to all of a sudden reel off three or four wins against the caliber of teams they have gone against. That said, the team hasn't been blown out at all, they have hung in every game. All they need is a big play. A big third or fourth down conversion which turns into a touchdown ... especially early on.

If I didn't agree with coaches in football, soccer or cross country I wouldn't be doing my job. I think the Tewksbury staff is certainly getting the most of its players. I really believe that. The one thing I do disagree on is their first offensive play from Friday night's game. Tewksbury took the ball over on the Methuen 9 yard line. Why not pass on the first play? Maybe have quarterback Arnie Martel hit tight end Adam Hill going to his right. Obviously hindsight is 20-20 but that's the play I was calling for at the time. I just think one throw, one catch and one touchdown would really have been a big lift to the team ...

...Then again the pass would have been deflected, dropped or intercepted.

But hey, it's just a thought.

Wilmington's strong start

Thus far Wilmington is undefeated and really who would have thought that? Obviously I didn't because I thought they would lose their first game. To me, the big surprise is the team's defense. It's much better than I thought it would be. But on the other hand, you have to admit that Wilmington really hasn't had a big test yet. Hamilton-Wenham wasn't the team I, or anyone else thought it would be. Offensively HW hasn't done anything all season. Masconomet? Wilmington should have had the game won by the third quarter, instead of going to overtime to do it.

Either case the team is 4-0. So who cares how they get it done or against what team?

But starting this Friday night, everyone will know the fate of the 2001 'Cats. Sure this is a game that will leave just one team undefeated; but this is also the game that starts a big three game trend for the 'Cats with North Andover and Triton still left - not to mention Newburyport. This is good for Wilmington. They are 4-0 with a lot of confidence in their back pockets heading for the big games. And they are relatively healthy.

Wilmington's notables

A lot of credit to the team's start should also be given to the assistant coaches. Especially Mike Barry who is a class act as well as a very good, hard working assistant who certainly gets the most out of the players he works with. If you watch him during games and practices it's quite obvious just how much respect he has from each and every one of his players, and other coaches.

The rest of the staff should also be commended for their hard work and preparation for each and every week - head coach Bob Almeida certainly knows that giving them credit all of the time ...

...Speaking of Almeida he has a record of 47-11-1 thus far as head coach here in Wilmington. Twenty-seven percent of his losses have come against Pentucket. How inspirational do you think his pre-game speech be on Friday night?

...Wilmington's ground game has been pretty impressive thus far. They have averaged 172 rushing yards per game and 4.5 yards per carry. George Godding is averaging 7.1 yards per carry, which is pretty astronomical. Derek Hanley and Dave DeMango are certainly respectable with 4.3 and 3.5 yards per carry. Defensively Wilmington gives up just 61 yards per game on the ground, an average of 2.2.

A few general thoughts:

One of these days I'm going to ask Bob Almeida, Brian Aylward, Al Costabile and a whole bunch of other high school football coaches this one question: Why don't teams use more screen passes, or pass to backs coming out of the backfield?

It's not just these three local teams who don't do it that often, but you hardly see that in high school ball. The majority of high school quarterbacks can't throw the 30-40 yard pass consistently. They don't have the arm for it. So why not throw little short passes to a player who is already in full speed?

Maybe there's something I don't know, since there's a lot of football I could learn. But I don't understand that. Why not do a little play action with the running back, have him cut over the middle, hit him in stride with a 5-10 yard pass and he's in full motion to either cut and avoid tacklers?

Victories, not effort, the problem for Redmen

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

METHUEN — If you watch a kid like Steve Kasprzak do everything in his power to pick up a loose ball off a bad snap and avoid many tacklers just to get back to the line of scrimmage, then you know for sure that the effort is there.

But for the Tewksbury High football team the results of points, and more importantly victories is not there, and that's been the frustrating part on all ends of the program.

On Friday night, Tewksbury was defeated for the third straight week as Methuen handed them a 12-7 loss to Nickerson Field. Tewksbury is now 1-3 on the season, riding a three-game losing streak in which they have scored just 13 points. The Redmen have scored just 34 points in 4 games this season.

"We practice hard," said coach Brian Aylward, with a stare look in his eyes. "We practice very hard. I don't think there's such a thing of a team over practicing. If I had the answers (of the third and fourth down failures) then we would have done something different. We just have to get better... it's frustrating. I think everyone associated with this program is frustrated.

"I don't think it's a matter of effort, our kids are trying hard. I think the coaches are trying hard. We made physical mistakes. But the kids are working hard and making physical mistakes and that's part of the game."

In the second week of the season, nearly double digit dropped passes were the problem in the loss to Everett. In week number three, penalties seemed to be the problem. On Friday in week four, penalties weren't a problem as the team committed just one questionable penalty. The dropped passes weren't really a problem either. The problems came within Methuen's territory.

Tewksbury had the ball on the Methuen 9 yard line on their first series and failed to score. They had the ball on the Methuen 27 on fourth-and-3 but a juggle of the hand-off allowed the Rangers to stop Tewksbury short of the first down and take over on downs.

Late in the second half, Tewksbury had the ball on the Methuen 11, but a fumbled snap turned the ball over on fourth-and-five. Finally, on the team's final drive of the game trailing 12-7, the Redmen couldn't move the ball on four plays from the Methuen 26.

On the positive side, Tewksbury's defense has shown through four games they are certainly respectable, and will keep the teams in games. The offense hasn't struggled really moving the ball, just has struggled moving the ball on big third and fourth down conversions. The team's ground game had really struggled the past two games, but Friday it wasn't bad as Kasprzak and Bob Ullo combined for 90 of the team's 98 rushing yards.

Quarterback Arnie Martel didn't have his best game (6-for-14, 104 yards, 2 interceptions) but he did give the team a chance to score hooking up with Matt McGinnis on three very big completions of 32, 44 and 21 yards, respectively.

"Kasprzak wants the ball - he wants to make the big plays," said Aylward. There's always kids who want the ball and who want to make the big plays, but I think if you can have another level of that, Kasprzak is it. I think McGinnis is another one who falls into that category. They both want to make the big plays and they both did make some big plays."

After a scoreless first half, Methuen got on the scoreboard on their first series of the third quarter. Tewksbury turned the ball over on downs at the Methuen

TEWKSBURY VS ANDOVER

Doucette Field, Tewksbury (Home Opener)

Saturday, October 6, 1:30 PM

Records: Andover 1-2; Tewksbury 1-3

Last year: Tewksbury 40-7

Last Week: Tewksbury lost to Methuen 12-7; Andover lost to Billerica 34-20.

Tewksbury coach Brian Aylward about Andover: "They are probably the quickest team in the league. Their speed creates a lot of problems. They are another good MVC team and we have our work cut out for us once again."

Keys to the Game: (Andover) - Obviously hold onto the ball this time around and not give Tewksbury the ball 7 times (like they last year) on turnovers. The key for them is to play their game. They are a tough football team who gave Billerica, one of the top teams in the entire state, all they could handle trailing by a touchdown with 6 minutes to go. If Andover plays its sound two-way game without deconstructing it could be a tough match-up for Tewksbury.

(For Tewksbury): Obviously the team has to find a way to win. Whether they do it by defense, by a big offensive night, by a big hit, a big punt return or by turning the ball over 7 times, they have to find something to lead them the right direction. Tewksbury has played four bruisers, and although they have remained in all four games they haven't had that one big play to bust it open. They need at least one big play or a handful of them to beat Andover.

Pote's Prediction: Tewksbury is by far the hardest team to predict. At times you think they can beat anyone, and at times you think they won't be anyone. Thus far in their three games I've predicted I've been wrong twice. I was wrong last week when I said they would beat Methuen, and perhaps they should've. Regardless of that Tewksbury is 1-3 and have played two of the best teams in the state, Everett and Chelmsford and lost pretty handily to both teams. Billerica is also one of the best teams in the state and they had a very tough time dealing with Andover's speed, and its offense. Just because of that, my vote goes to Andover, 28-13.

Whittier's Heredia ruins Rams' day

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

Sometimes you just know it's not your day.

The Shawsheen Tech football team must have had that feeling Saturday morning when Whittier High running back Angel Heredia caught the opening kickoff and, after a fake reverse, sprinted 82 yards for a touchdown.

The rest of the day went much the same for the Rams as they were victimized by Whittier's running attack to the tune of 333 yards and suffered their first loss in their Commonwealth Athletic Conference Large opener, 34-13, at Samuel J. Cassidy Field.

"We dug ourselves a hole on the opening kickoff," said Shawsheen head coach Al Costabile, whose team was victimized by Heredia for 191 rushing yards. "We work on special teams every single day. We talk about staying in your lane. We worked on that fake reverse, we worked on the reverse. It's just unfortunate. I don't know if maybe they got so sky-high, they forgot what they were going to do."

Later in the first quarter, Lenny

THE SHAWSHEEN TECH FOOTBALL TEAM will travel to Chelsea on Friday night. (Photo by Joe Hakey).

Russo, who rushed for 38 yards on eight carries, capped a 10-play drive for the Wildcats with a 9-yard touchdown run on a sweep left. The scoring play was redemption for the Wildcats, who two plays earlier had a touchdown erased by a holding call.

"They got the push on the line of scrimmage," said Costabile. "They had our defensive line back on their heels. They got off on the ball. They got great push out of their offensive line."

The Wildcats led 14-0 with 30 seconds to play in the first quarter, but the Rams battled back.

Heredia had his only bad play of the day late in the first half. As he rushed up the middle on a third down-and-10, he fumbled and Shawsheen's Jeremy Verrocchio, a Wilmington resident, recovered at the Whittier 4-yard line.

On Shawsheen's first play from scrimmage, Derek Vacca rushed into the end zone with 3:24 to play before the break. Halftime arrived with a 14-7 score.

"As far as positives, I think we're going to be able to show the kids that there were opportunities to turn this thing around," said Costabile. "Even though you get hit with an opening kickoff, it's still a 44-minute game. You know, coming back and having it 14-7 at halftime, that's positive."

However, the second half was all Whittier. Defensively, the Wildcats limited Vacca, who injured his thumb on defense late in the first half and carried just once after halftime, to just 40 yards on 14 carries for the game.

Offensively, the Wildcats scored on their first possession of the second half. Russo capped a five-play drive with his second score of the day, this time on a 14-yard rush over left tackle.

Shawsheen had a chance to get back into the game after Brian Gird intercepted a pass on the first play of the third quarter. The Rams took over at their own 22, but went four-and-out. Whittier then started its next drive at the Shawsheen 44 and Shawn Kidder capped a seven-play drive with a 3-yard touchdown run.

Down 27-7, sophomore quarterback Matt Williams had his best series of the day on the Rams' next possession. Williams led the Rams on an eight-play, 54-yard drive that featured a big third-down pass to Brad Lawrenson for 6 yards and a first down. The drive ended with a 29-yard touchdown pass to Rick Crea, who caught three balls in the game for 65 yards.

Heredia then finished off the game's scoring with a 23-yard touchdown dash.

"I thought mentally we made some mistakes that were uncharacteristic of us," said Costabile. "I thought physically they handled us. And when you're getting handled physically, the last thing you can do is afford mental mistakes."

Rams will try to tackle Chelsea on Friday

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

Shawsheen Tech football coach Al Costabile has talked all season long about the fragile confidence of his young team.

For the season's first three weeks, the Rams went about their merry way disposing of each opponent in their path and that confidence was never threatened.

This week, however, the Rams are in a new situation - trying to bounce back from their first loss, a 34-13 decision to Whittier on Saturday.

"Now we're going to see if they find that inner-toughness to get through," said Costabile. "When adversity hits an inexperienced team, you're always wondering what the adversity's going to cause. So, we're going to find out. This is going to be a gut check."

Shawsheen travels to take on Chelsea Friday night and the Rams should be able to take advantage of their undermanned opponent. Chelsea is off to a 0-3 start after its loss to North Shore, 20-12, last week.

"Chelsea's an explosive team and they have some talent," said Costabile about his opponent, which has suits up only 23 players. "They may not have quantity as far as numbers, but they've got some quality."

One player to watch for Chelsea is senior running back Deshawn Chappell. At 5-foot-7, 185 pounds, Chelsea coach Andy O'Brien says his star is extremely strong and fast.

"He has over 350 yards rushing this season," said O'Brien about Chappell, who is averaging 12 tackles a game from the linebacker position. "Unfortunately, he does not have much support. We don't have much of a passing game, so other teams stack the line of scrimmage and key on our running back. So it's a credit to him that the yards he's gotten, he's gotten on his own."

Considering Shawsheen's trouble stopping strong, fast runners this season, the Rams are going to have to really concentrate on tackling. Trying to just arm tackle Chappell could prove costly. Wilmington's Jeremy Verrocchio has been all over the place on defense this season and his teammates need to follow the hard-nosed lineman's lead this week.

"They (Chelsea) have some speed," said Costabile. "They've got a couple of guys that can score from anywhere on the field, so we're going to have to tackle and we're going to have to be where we're supposed to be defensively."

"But we've got to get better along the line of scrimmage. We can't be getting pushed around along the line of scrimmage."

Of course, Shawsheen has its own vaunted running attack. Senior tailback Derek Vacca might have broken his thumb in the loss to Whittier, but he's one of the best backs in the league if he's healthy.

If Vacca can't go, the Rams will rely on Nick Maynard, Scott Wiitala, Jamie Martinez and Kimathi Johnson to carry the rushing load. Both their skills and the fact that almost all of Chelsea's players will be worn out from playing both ways should allow the Rams to dominate on the ground.

"A lot of our players do not come off the field, so there are times in the game where there's a physical or mental breakdown," said O'Brien. "Our tackling needs some work and we definitely need to learn to present a better push."

If Shawsheen goes to the all-sophomore quarterback Matt Williams has Martinez, Joe Esposito, Rick Crea and Wilmington's Brad Lawrenson as more than capable targets.

Trying to stop the Rams offense will be linebacker Omar Vega, who also plays fullback for Chelsea; defensive tackle Josh Monahan, Chelsea's senior captain; and defensive lineman Sylvester Vasquez, who do to injuries will have to play offensive line as well this week.

No matter how Shawsheen's confidence is this week in practice, the sight of winless Chelsea on Friday should lift the Rams' spirits. The pick here is that the Rams win the battle in the trenches, throw a couple of long passes and let up a couple of long runs to Chappell. The predicted final score is Shawsheen 30; Chelsea 15.

Football Season

Wildcats take sting out of NR

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

Just in case the Wilmington High football team needed a tune-up before its battle with archrival Pentucket in Week 5, North Reading provided the Wildcats with a preliminary opponent on Friday.

Led by George Godding's 128 rushing yards and two scores, Wilmington (4-0) revved its motor and remained undefeated by beating North Reading, 22-6, on homecoming at a soggy, chilly Alumni Field.

"(Godding) actually had a great week of practice," said Wilmington head coach Bob Almeida about his star runner, who it was once feared had broken his wrist. "His hand was bothering him a little bit and we were worried about him fumbling the ball and stuff. But for the most part, it was a good effort by George."

The Wildcats defense held the Hornets (1-3) to just 153 yards of total offense and one score, which came against Wilmington's back-up defenders on a 19-yard pass play as time expired.

"Obviously our defense is still playing very well," said Almeida. "That big fullback (Rich O'Neill, who was held to 11 yards) has been playing tremendous. He's one of the best runners in the league. I don't know exactly what the numbers were, but I know we shut him down pretty good."

Godding, playing with a severely sore wrist, opened the scoring on Wilmington's first possession. The senior rushed 60 yards on the Wildcats' second play of the game for a 6-0 lead.

Midway through the second quarter, North Reading put together its best drive of the first half. Quarterback John Murphy hit Matt Reed with a 23-yard pass to set up a first-and-10 at the Wilmington 41.

After Mike Wetherbee rushed for 6 yards, the Wildcats defense came with a couple of blitzes. First, Matt Dorothy sacked Murphy for a loss of 12 yards. Then on third down, Derek Hanley sacked Murphy, who fumbled the ball and covered it for a loss of 8.

Late in the first half, Wilmington capped a five-minute drive with its second score. Quarterback Mike Herra, who kept the drive alive with a 2-yard rush on fourth down from the North Reading 41, handed the ball to Godding for a 2-yard touchdown and a 12-0 lead.

Herra, who rushed for 23 yards on the night, then took the high snap on the kick attempt and rushed into the end zone for two points.

The second half featured more of Wilmington's ground game, which totaled 236 yards on the evening. Herra only attempted two passes and threw incomplete on both.

"He was telling me he couldn't grip the ball (because of wetness)," said Almeida. "Not that we're a passing team, but we were a little bit limited in trying to throw the ball at all."

Late in the third quarter, Godding fumbled - Wilmington's only turnover of the night - and the Hornets took possession at their own 41. Then on fourth down and 5 from the North Reading 45, the Hornets tried to catch the Wildcats napping with a fake punt play.

Steve Laba hit Andrew

Richardson with a pass, but the receiver was hauled down by Wilmington's defense 1 yard shy of the first down. The Wildcats took over on downs.

With 4:41 to play, the Wildcats took possession and were able to kill a lot of clock before tallying their final touchdown.

Herra led Wilmington on a 10-play drive that featured two big fourth-down plays. Herra made the first play when he rushed for 3 yards on fourth and 1 from the North Reading 28.

Dave Demango made the second big play on fourth and 1 from the North Reading 16, when he rushed for 2 yards.

Hanley, who rushed for 50 yards on 11 carries, capped the Wildcats' scoring with a 9-yard run two plays later.

"Some of the same things we've been doing for a while, we continued to do tonight," said Almeida. "We're very happy to be 4-0 with a whole new group of kids."

Wilmington's Hanley a nice side-kick

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

Playing Robin to senior George Godding's Batman Friday night in Wilmington High's 22-6 win over North Reading at Alumni Field was Derek Hanley.

The junior running back carried the ball 11 times for 50 yards and one touchdown, as he became a focal point of the offense with Godding nursing a sore wrist and sophomore Dave Demango hobbling with a sore knee.

"I liked it," said Hanley. "I want to get the ball more anyway. It gave me the opportunity."

And Hanley took advantage of the opportunity. Well, most of the time.

"Hanley did a good job," said Wilmington head coach Bob Almeida. "I didn't like the way he ran out of the hole a couple of times, but the way he ran that touchdown is the way we've seen him run in the past. And that's why we really wanted to get him in there. He really ran the ball really hard."

The touchdown came with Wilmington already leading 15-0 late in the fourth quarter. On first-and-5 from the North Reading 9, Hanley took the handoff from quarterback Mike Herra and busted into the end zone off of left tackle. The score capped a 10-play drive.

"Sometimes I just bounce around outside and I should've stayed in the hole," said Hanley. "But I got more carries and did that on the touchdown."

At 5-foot-9, 170 pounds, Hanley isn't the most imposing figure on the field. But the tailback's size is on his inside.

"He's a small kid, he's a tough kid," said Almeida. "But I guess when you're one of the best wrestlers in the state, I guess you have a little toughness to you."

Hanley has toughness and speed. "I just got to use my speed," said Hanley. "I can't be tippy-toeing to the line, I just got to go as hard as I can."

On defense, Hanley made things happen from the linebacker position. With Wilmington leading 7-0 in the second quarter, the North Reading offense marched into Wilmington territory.

On second-and-4 from the 35, Hanley blitzed and forced quarterback John Murphy to scramble. The result was a sack for Matt Dorothy. On the next play, Hanley sacked Murphy, who fumbled the ball and had to fall on it to keep possession. The play went for a loss of 8 yards.

"On blitzes, I was just coming up," said Hanley, who helped the Wilmington defense hold North Reading to just 34 rushing yards. "They didn't run too much outside, but the guys did a good job of keeping them inside."

Said Almeida: "The one thing about him is he's such a smart player. He really understands what the concept of the defense is, and what we're trying to accomplish. He's just playing the position the way we're coaching him to do it."

Wilmington will need more solid play from Hanley this weekend when the Wildcats take on archrival Pentucket.

"They're a good team. We're gonna just come out harder than we did today, have a good week of practice and I think we can beat them," said Hanley, who knows well that Pentucket has beaten Wilmington three years in a row. "There's already a lot of talk about it (the losses)."

Woolaver scores on own pace

BY JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Eight years ago Ryan Woolaver gave his parents David and Robin the biggest scare of their lives.

Nowadays, Ryan, gives opposing defenses the biggest scare when he kicks the ball underneath his arm and runs at them on the football field.

Ryan is a 9-year-old boy from Tewksbury. He's a third grader who attends the Dewing School. He's your typical third grader. Besides football, he loves to hang out with his friends, he loves to go snowmobiling and he enjoys riding his Quad and Go-Kart. He also loves to hang out with his older brother Derek, whether it's throwing the football around in the yard or just being pals.

More than what Ryan can do on the football field, is the way he does it. The running back/safety plays for Cheyenne, the junior football team in the Tewksbury youth football league. But Ryan Woolaver plays football with a pacemaker in his heart.

"He's truly a fighter," said Robin Woolaver, of her son. "He's overcome so much. To have him is a gift. Everyday we thank God that we have him."

Perhaps the entire Cheyenne football team is thankful that Ryan's on their side. This is just his second year playing the sport he loves, and through four games this year he has scored at least one touchdown in each game. He's an animal down on the field, being very aggressive, making all the plays he can and just enjoying the game. But all of his life Ryan was told he would never be able to play the game of football.

"It was always never, never, never," said Robin. "Then we went for our once a year check-up and we asked the doctor and he said 'I don't have a problem with it'. And the amazing part is you would think that Ryan would be afraid of contact and everything, but he's right in there all of the time. He's not afraid of anything."

First Told

When Ryan was about 11 months old, he started to become very sick. The sickness kept progressing and his parents were constantly taking him into the Children's Hospital in Salem several times a week. David took Ryan one time and the doctor couldn't figure out what was wrong with Ryan. David left the building and before getting to his car, Ryan began and kept vomiting. David turned right around, went back to the doctor's office and said 'something has to be wrong. This isn't right.'

That's when Ryan's heartbeat was taken and the nurse noticed his heart rate stumbled. After more tests they found out that Ryan's heart rate was half of what it should have been. They diagnosed a virus but still to this day can't figure out what it is or how it started. At the time only half of Ryan's heart was working, as the other half was blocked off.

Ryan then went in for an emergency open heart surgery. Usually when adults have a pacemaker put in, the doctors insert it through the person's veins. At the time Ryan's veins couldn't accept the leads and the pacemaker had to put through his abdomen. Over the next few years Ryan felt better, although he continued to get sick. And when he got sick, he really got sick since his immune system was weakened.

"It was really a tough thing for us," said David. "I immediately asked the doctor 'what does this mean? Does it mean he can't live a normal life?' I didn't know anything about pacemakers. It was pretty tough."

"I remember the day the doctors told us that he needed the pacemaker. We were all in this room and there were a bunch of other couples and children there. When they told us I went flush."

Repercussions

About two years ago on a snowmobiling trip, one of the leads broke and Ryan had to see the doctors again. This time since he was old enough, the pacemaker was inserted into his clavicle, with the leads going through his veins. But that still wasn't right. A few months later, Ryan still didn't feel 100 percent all of the time. He was constantly getting dizzy. Back to the hospital the family went.

"The pacemaker fluctuates around 60 during rest and up to 130 during activities," said Robin. "Ryan's was going up to 150 and the second he stopped running around the pacemaker would instantly drop to 60 which caused him to be dizzy all of the time. They did a stress test and determined that the pacemaker wasn't working right. They had to reprogram the pacemaker so his heart rate would gradually go down after an activity."

Since then Ryan hasn't been sick at all. He feels great and does the normal activities any other third grader would do.

On the field

Ever since he can remember,

Ryan wanted to play football. When he was told he could finally participate in sports, David and Robin signed Ryan up for soccer. On the soccer field Ryan was a go-getter. He was very aggressive and displayed great athleticism. Then he turned to football.

"I know he's my son but I watch him out there and he knows what he's doing," said David. "He looks like a natural out there as a running back. I don't know where he got it from because I wasn't a running back. He's a good football player."

David has coached youth football for several years now, especially since the family moved to Tewksbury from Melrose three years ago. David coached his oldest son Derek last year and Derek moved up a division and David stayed with his Navajo team in the Intermediate Level. Next year Ryan will move up from the Junior Level to the Intermediate Level and will have Dad as his coach.

"I always wanted to [play football]," said Ryan.

And asked what his favorite position is and why, Ryan said, "Running back, because I get to score more touchdowns."

Ryan is all over the field during games. He runs the ball, he makes tackles and he's having fun with his teammates. Perhaps Ryan has become so competitive because of his relationship with his brother Derek.

The two of them are very close, and always trying to get better while they bond together playing the sport they both love. Derek is 12 and he's a little bigger than his 9-year-old brother.

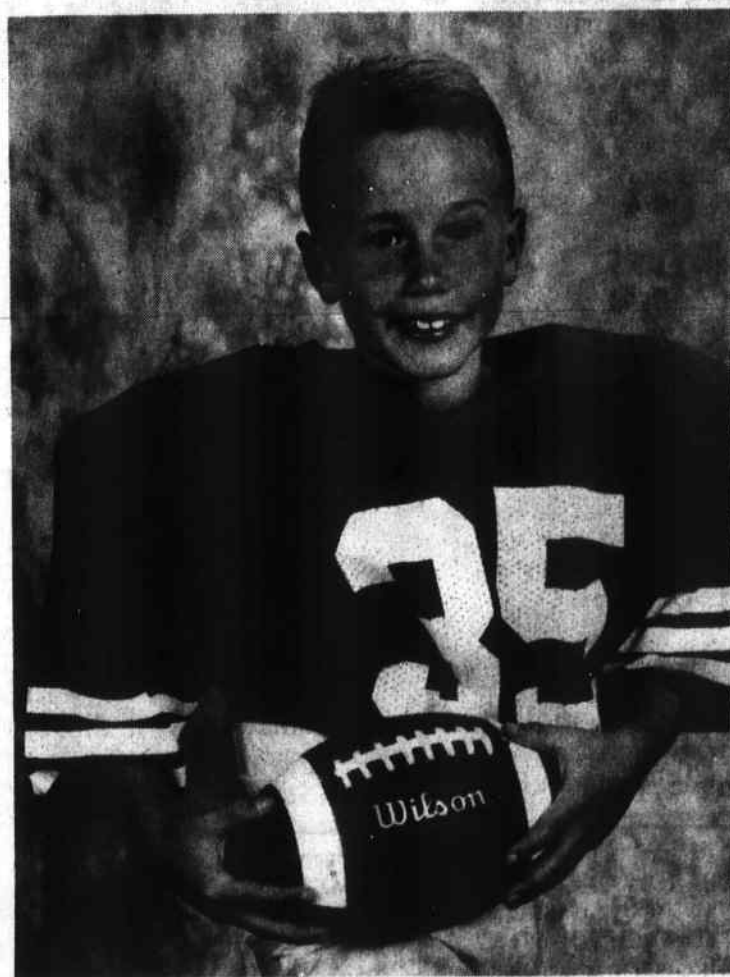

"I win because I'm faster," said Ryan, "but if he ever caught me it might hurt."

Everyday life

To this day the doctors have no idea if Ryan will ever have problems with his heart again. They don't know what caused his problems, and they don't know if what ever attacked his heart will ever come back.

In the meantime, Ryan will still wake up at 6:15 am, put his equipment on and get ready for a 10:00 am game. He'll make sure his Dad is ready to take him down to the field.

Upon arriving to the field for the big weekend game on Sunday morning, Ryan and his Dad will beat to the hard core music of Kid Rock. That means, Ryan is ready to play the sport he truly loves.

With a record of 4-3 the Shawsheen Tech varsity girls soccer team is well on their way to establishing themselves in their new league. The Commonwealth Athletic Conference (C. A. "It was a good game and we did a nice job keeping up with their team. We want to play better skilled teams in order to learn more from their experience."

Last week the girls played against Northeast and Chelsea winning both games with scores of 7-0. Megan Milward scored three goals against Northeast and also had an assist.

"She is a good player and works well on the team," said Viveiros. "We are playing much better together as a team and working well under pressure."

This week the girls are preparing for a difficult run of games.

"This is a tough stretch in our schedule," said Viveiros. Coming up first is the game at Presentation of Mary. "We are mentally preparing for this game as well as physically," said Viveiros.

The girls lost to P. M. A. the first time around with a score of 3-0.

"We have had a lot of tough games this week, mostly away games and those are always harder," said Viveiros.

The girls will also face Tyngsboro, who they also suffered a difficult loss to earlier in the season. After playing Tyngsboro the girls will prepare for the Homecoming game against Lowell Catholic.

"This will be our first game against them and it is a non-league game," said Viveiros. "We are preparing for this game just as much as we would any other game, if not more because it is a homecoming weekend."

The girls are a new team and still coming together and learning from each other during every practice and game. Heather Thomas has stepped up as the goalie and doing well for her team. Gillian Barlow is from the junior varsity team but has been pulled up due to the fact that Michelle Riley has a broken hand.

"We're playing with injuries and still doing well, so I have a lot of hope for our team," said Viveiros.

Captain of the team is senior Meredith Dauphinee from Billerica. "She's a great kid and a great soccer player as well," said Viveiros. "She leads her team and keeps everyone motivated and up beat."

This is the first year for the girls and so far they are proving their worth. The girls are hoping to put more wins on the leader board and believe that hard work and dedication are the key.

Fiumara Brothers score on easy transition

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

Julio, Willy, and Dennis Fiumara were raised on soccer. It all began when they were toddlers kicking a soccer ball to each other in Costa Rica, and continues today with two brothers on the Wilmington High School varsity soccer team, and the third poised to follow them.

Julio, age 17, is the oldest of the three brothers. He was the one who, ten years ago in Costa Rica, already had a favorite professional soccer team: Alajuela.

Today, Alajuela is the reigning champion of the Costa Rican league. Meanwhile, the Wilmington High soccer team is 5-1-1, second place in the Cape Ann League. Julio, a junior, is midway through his first season with the team, Willy, a sophomore, is in his second season as a starter. Dennis, grade 8, is the team ball boy.

"We all got involved at the same time," said Willy. "Julio and I were on the same team when we were real young, and in a way it brought us closer together. We all play soccer."

The first time Dominic Fiumara saw his two oldest sons, they were playing soccer in Costa Rica. In 1990, they were adopted and moved to Wilmington, where they continued to play on the family's front lawn. All three brothers started playing young, and before long were involved in soccer leagues run by the Wilmington Recreation Department.

Over the years, they have each developed their own style of play. These styles are partly based on their skills, and partly on their physical builds. The brothers agree Willy is more talented, he is the goalscorer. Julio is the playmaker. Dennis has yet to decide.

Willy, who started playing soccer in kindergarten, has relied on natural ability. But despite his considerable talents, he was surprised when he made the varsity team last year as a freshman. He was the team's starting mid-fielder. Willy started playing soccer when he was 5 years old.

"Willy is my speedy more polished player," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "These boys have a competitive streak that gives the whole team a little kick. They play totally opposite of each other, Julio is more of a scrapper and aggressive."

Julio, on the other hand, is the nose-to-the-grindstone type of player. He has had to practice hard to overcome a couple of natural limitations. In his own words, he is somewhat slower, and shorter, than many opposing players. "I'm a good player, but I'm not a very speedy player," said Julio.

To compensate, he worked on his passing ability. After failing to make the varsity team last year, he started for the junior varsity team. Although he was disappointed, Julio said the experience made him a better player.

"I knew I wouldn't get a lot of playing time on the varsity level last year," said Julio. "Junior varsity gave me the chance to improve."

Over the summer, he played with his brothers on Junior Athletic in a Chelsea-based Latin American league. This provided him with valuable off-season practice, which improved his strength and conditioning entering the fall season.

"Some kids go through summer not touching soccer ball," said Julio. "(Playing over the summer) got me physically fit for the (season). In order to go up against bigger kids I need to be fit."

Without looking it up, Domenic can remember the day when the Waltham-based adoption agency called: Dec. 9, 1989. "That's a day I'll never forget."

In May 1990, the three brothers arrived in Wilmington, after a 2,300 mile trip from Costa Rica, in Central America.

"By July 4th, we were speaking English," said Willy.

Julio returned to Costa Rica in July 2002. The trip re-introduced him to the people and sights of Costa Rica. He was once fluent in Spanish, and was surprised at how quickly he regained his grasp of the language. Willy plans to return next year.

"(Soccer is) the sport the sport that was played in Latin America, it's what they zeroed into," said Domenic. "(After moving to Wilmington), the kids played soccer on the lawn. Dennis played with him, and they weren't easy with him."

Dennis, grade 8, is a midfielder for the Wilmington Under 14 Travel A team. He also and joins his brother on the sidelines this seasons, following in their footsteps as the varsity team's ball boy. The job has allowed him to get an up close view of high school soccer.

"I noticed it's a lot more physical (than the Under 14 Travel A league), you have to play with both feet," said Dennis. Although he considers himself a scorer, like Julio, he has noticed that high school soccer puts more emphasis on passing, which is Willy's strength.

While Dennis would be happy to make the junior varsity team, Julio has entertained thoughts of all three Fiumara brothers playing together on next year's varsity team.

"Next year I hope we can get on same field," said Julio. "To see the three Fiumara brothers out there would be a shock, we'd like that."

Volleyball team doesn't pass up opportunity to win

By SANDRA FLETCHER
Sports Correspondent

Right now the Wilmington High volleyball team is exactly at 5-5 and still going strong. With the girls now getting into their run for the season the outlook is brightening up. Tuesday the girls played against the Knights of North Andover. It was a quick 2-0 win for the Lady Wildcats and this added to their streak.

The starting line up for the Lady Wildcats was incomplete with an injured captain Jill Murray sitting out. This didn't stop the Lady Wildcats from pulverizing the Knights with a first game score of 15-0 and a second game score of 15-5.

"The girls are really starting to find their groove together and playing well as a team," said head coach Mark Staffier.

As always leading the team on the floor is co-captain Kristen Sauve who not only does well blocking but also inspires the team to keep up their pace.

Starting off serving for Wilmington was Kerri Moynihan who served for two points. Serving next was Lyndsey Borsetti who served up six points for Wilmington. The Knights had a hard time keeping control of the ball after it was served and a lot of the points racked up by Wilmington were due to the fact that North Andover could not return their serves.

Playing well on the Wilmington side offensively, was Lisa Hurley who had a couple of nice kills after being set up by Sauve. Serving next for Wilmington gaining the remaining seven points was Julie Cronin who served for quite a while. Cronin also did well setting up Borsetti who made the final point with a hard kill that fell right in front of three North Andover players.

The second game was a little more competitive for North Andover but Wilmington still did well, rising to the occasion. This game was totally in Wilmington control at the beginning when Nicole Silva served for the teams ten points, including an ace and three no returns from the Knights.

Erica Barrett played well for the Lady Wildcats setting up Gina Ranno to assist in gaining two points out of the first ten for Wilmington. Carissa Newhouse served well toward the end of the second game for Wilmington gaining two points for Wilmington. Heather Dorothy and Katie Riley also played well at the net, keeping volley going and the ball alive.

Serving well for Wilmington in the second game was Lauren Crowley. Crowley served for two points and her served ended when she served too hard and it went long.

Letter to the Sports Editor How about Bellissimo Memorial Field?

Dear Jamie:

Jamie, you were the originator of the suggestion to name the baseball field after Dick Scanlon; I feel that it is fitting and appropriate to name the football field after Fred Bellissimo.

He made Wilmington a formidable opponent for all of the local powerhouse schools. I always felt that if the opponent was not ahead by two TDs in the last quarter, then Fred's team would win - and his teams and players usually did.

I have recently asked the Board of Selectmen to amend Article Three of the Special Town Meeting to officially name the Wilmington High School Football Field after the late Fred Bellissimo.

The amendment would recognize Fred for his long term commitment to the students of Wilmington High School. Fred dedicated his entire coaching and teaching career to his athletes and every student he worked with. He was a winner.

I ask that every ball player who played for Fred contact the Board of Selectmen to push for officially naming the football field in honor of their coach - Fred Bellissimo.

Sincerely,

Gerry O'Reilly

Gerry: Great idea. I agree with you one hundred percent. Both Fred and Dick are legends in this town. What better way to remember their legacy than to name the respective fields after them, since they made such a difference to so many people in this town on those fields. [JP]

Silva serves up a winner

By SANDRA FLETCHER

Consistent serving is so important in the game of volleyball, especially at the high school level. Get the ball over the net and there's a good chance the opposing team might not return the ball back.

On Tuesday night, Wilmington High senior Nicole Silva did just that in the team's 2-0 win over North Andover. At one time she had 10 consecutive points from serving as the visiting Knights just couldn't handle her serves.

But the key thing here is Silva doesn't have a 100-mile per hour serve. It consistently gets over the net and that's all a Coach can ask for.

"Nicole is one of my most consistent servers," said head coach Mark Staffier. "She may not have the hardest or the fastest serve, but it always goes in and I know I can count on her in a pinch."

That pinch guided the team's to its fifth win in ten tries. Over the past few years when Nicole was playing JV until varsity last year, the team hasn't combined to win five games. Consistency, consistency and consistency was the difference in not only Silva's game, but the difference in another victory.

"We have been playing together for so long now that we just expected to do well," said Silva. "We played good at the beginning but we have gotten a lot better with all the hard work we have been putting in at practice."

With so many girls graduating the team wants to make sure they leave on a good note. Silva prides herself on her serving and admits she could use some work in other areas. That is why her teammates are so important because they all specialize in a certain aspect of the game.

"I think the team is hitting really well and we are all coming together as a team. It helps that we are all good friends too," said Silva. "There is always more to learn and we are going through the season, game by game."

Silva also credits coach Staffier with her overall improvement on the floor.

"I have learned a lot from him and he really knows what he is talking about," said Silva. "Coach gets right into the game during our practice sessions and does a lot of showing us different styles and techniques. He is a visual coach and does not just give out instructions."

The girls have a record of five and five and are hot on the war path. They have won their last three games in a row. This week the girls will face Melrose and they are hoping a win will break their tie record.

And with the way Nicole Silva has been serving, the chances of the team continuing its winning streak seems very good.

Boys' Soccer team faces Masco Opponents don't push 'Cats around in their own home

BY SANDRA FLETCHER
Sports Correspondent

Two weeks ago the Wilmington High boys' soccer team allowed 8 goals against Masconomet Regional. On Monday night, Masco made the trip to WHS for a night game, and the 'Cats weren't going to let the Cheiftains push them around on their home turf.

The 'Cats put together a great 80-minute game of soccer as they showed great improvement from their last attempt with Masco. Instead of losing 8-3, the 'Cats walked off Alumni Field with a point, as the two teams ended in a 1-1 tie.

"This was a huge improvement from our last outing with Masco," said coach Steve Scanlon. "We weren't underestimating their team at all and took this game very seriously. I thought both teams had a good chance to win [on Monday night]."

Junior Johnny Lee scored the lone goal of the game for Wilmington as he set himself right up in front of the net as teammate Adam Jensen kicked the ball over to him. Accepting the pass, Lee gently tapped the ball passed Masco's goalie who attempted to slide into the ball to push it out of the net. This goal seem to light a fire under Wilmington and gave them a rush of confidence.

A good portion of the game was played in the Wilmington zone. This kept Wilmington goalie Chris Flynn on his toes. Flynn played excellent defense with six great saves. In the first half, Masco had a breakaway and it was one on one against Flynn. He stepped up and made a great slide to push the ball out of play. Playing well for Wilmington was JT Tobin who did a great job attacking the Masco team and gaining control of the ball for his team.

Brian Schell also did well in the Wilmington zone gaining control of the ball and sending it midfield to the forwards waiting for a pass. The forwards Jensen, Jason Gustin, Rob Schell, and Mike Kelley did well offensively keeping Masco on the look out for that next attempt at a goal. Kelley had great speed and took off from the Masco defense. All alone against the Masco goalie Kelley took a nice shot that went just wide of the net.

The Wilmington defense held off the Masco team until the middle of the second half. A cluster of players, Wilmington and Masco had set up right in front of Flynn and a shot was taken. It reflected off of Flynn and trickled into the net to tie the game.

This didn't slow down the effort from Wilmington. Still going strong after this set back, Wilmington's Andy Bamberg did his best at keeping the ball at mid field and sending it towards the Masconet. Jared Castantino did a nice job of putting a scare into Masco when he broke out of the crowd of boys with the ball and attempted a high goal that went just over the top of the goal.

The only freshman on the team this year is Anthony Azevedo and he plays with great agility as the team's sweeper.

"Anthony is one of the most composed kids on the team," said Scanlon. "He has great control and speed."

The boys now have a record of 5-2-1.

"We're taking one game at a time and just trying to improve as the season continues," said Scanlon. "We're getting better every day and growing together as a team."

The boys are hoping to continue their streak of improvement and become contenders in their league.

"We have a tough league and we just want to be competitive," said Scanlon.

Wilmington will host Triton Regional on Friday afternoon at the Shawsheen School beginning at 3:45.

goes long," said Staffier.

Also playing well was Venessa Reynolds who kept the ball alive when she made a nice diving save to keep the ball in control so that Gina Ranno could make the ball over the net.

Wilmington is preparing for their upcoming week after a nice win today. Playing Melrose on Thursday Wilmington is taking one game at a time.

"If we win against Melrose, it'll be a big win for us," said Staffier. "We're hoping this will be a win and put us over the top to break our five and five record."

Last week the girls played exceptional against Hamilton Wenham.

"We won the second and third games after a hard first game," said Staffier. "We just needed to get our minds in the game and we were able to pull out the win. We were mostly in control the last two games."

The team is definitely coming together for Staffier.

"We are really growing together as a team, and we're in the middle of the season but it's better late than never," said Staffier.

Girls Soccer team really looking to get back on track

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Sue Hendee never thought her team would have just one win through its first eight games. She probably never thought her team could or would lose by six goals to any opponent. Well that's what is happening through the team's first half of the season.

On Thursday night the team won its first game shutting out Rockport, 3-0, under the lights at Alumni Stadium. Two days later Wilmington lost 2-0 to North Reading. That followed with the program's biggest loss in many years, a 7-1 drubbing to Masconomet on Monday night.

Wilmington, which has just one senior and half of the team are freshmen and sophomores, is now 1-6-1 on the season.

"This isn't the way anyone could have imagine it," said coach Sue Hendee. "It's not really the record that concerns me. It's the play of late. We're hoping [Wednesday] changes all of that. It just seemed like everything was turning around in the Rockport game. We played well, we got the win and it was our best team effort all season. I was hoping it would carry over to the next game and it didn't."

"Then Monday was really tough. Masco is good and there's no denying that. I can't fault my keepers either because many of their goals were point blank. I think it was a combination of them being very good and us not playing well."

Against Rockport, Wilmington took a 1-0 lead at the halftime break as Rachele See scored in the 30th minute. Three minutes into the second half sophomore Ashley Steenbruggen gave the team much needed insurance as she blasted one home thanks to a pass from lone senior Diane Dellascio, who is the team's captain. In the 20th minute of the second half, Dellascio scored and that was the final goal in the 3-0 win.

"We outplayed them putting 18 shots on net and they only had two on us," said Hendee. "We did everything right but finish."

Hendee said See, as well as newcomers Jennifer Earls and Debbie Lyons played well.

That game followed with the two losses to North Reading and Masconomet.

Wilmington will travel to Triton Regional on Friday before coming back home to the Shawsheen School on Tuesday with a rematch against North Reading.

"The league is really tough this year," said Hendee. "It's unfortunate that this is the year that we have so many new players on the team since so many other teams are senior oriented. We're looking to improve our play and get back on track."

Field Hockey team taking charge lately

By JAMIE POTE

The Wilmington High field hockey team is back over the .500 mark as they picked up two wins this past week. The girls defeated Newburyport, 2-0, last Wednesday night under the lights and that followed with a wild, 4-2 win over Triton Regional on Monday afternoon, also at Alumni Stadium. With the pair of victories the team has improved its record to 4-3-2 at the halfway point of the season.

Against Newburyport, Stefanie Quinton scored the game winning goal thanks to an assist from the other co-captain of the team Jackie Rubino. Judy Weiner added the second goal with a nice set-up by Quinton.

"That was a nice team effort win," said coach Patti Cushing. "They all played well."

Goalkeeper Sherri Thresher made 4 saves to earn the shutout.

On Tuesday, Wilmington peppered Triton's goalie with shots all game long. Cushing said that their goalie had between 20-25 saves on the day, not including the 4 shots that went in, giving Wilmington nearly 30 shots on net which is pretty remarkable.

Wilmington led 1-0 at the half as Leah DeMaggio scored from Janessa Mutchler. In the second half, Triton tied the game just 50 seconds into it, and that came before senior Lisa Antonangeli scored a pair of goals to help the 'Cats lead 3-1. At the 21st minute mark Triton made it a one goal game but three minutes later, Steph Winn scored a much needed insurance goal thanks to a nice pass from Annie Warford, who has impressed many this season with her style of play.

McDonalds benefit

Cross Country teams strides towards improvement

BY SANDRA FLETCHER
Sports Correspondent

Wednesday against Hamilton and Wenham the Wilmington girls and boys varsity cross country teams suffered a loss but over all ran very well.

The teams are still in the rebuilding stage and progressing nicely through the season. Head coach Tom Bradley has been going over different routes for both of the teams in deciding who is running well and who needs a little more work.

"We didn't win over all as a team," said Bradley speaking about the boys. "But we have a few guys that are always our first, second, and third place runners."

Bradley is speaking of Shayne Gaffney, Nick Eaton, both juniors and Dan Vassallo a sophomore. These tri-captains are always in the top five or every race and are motivating the rest of the boys to step up and be competitive. Gaffney who ran exceptionally well against Hamilton and Wenham broke a course record with a time of 17:45 seconds. Coming in second and third were Vassallo and Eaton.

As for the girls, they seem to be struggling through injuries but are improving with a number of new girls stepping up into top roles. Once again though it is Michelle Brush who came in first for Wilmington and second over all in her race with a time of 20:43.

"Michelle is a great runner and always helps out the girls on her team who don't have as much as experience as she does," said Bradley.

Coming in second place for Wilmington was junior Kerri Gillespie. This is Gillespie's first year on the cross country team and she is really proving herself to everyone.

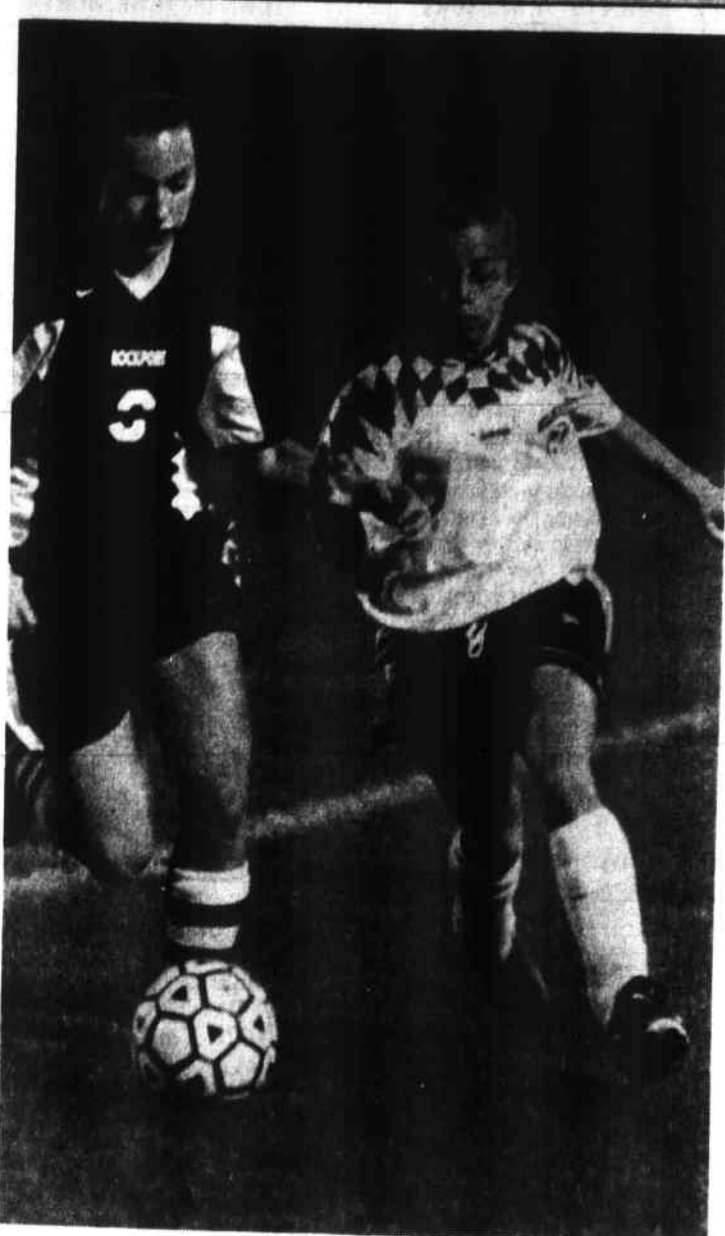

"Kerri showed her abilities during the spring track season last year," said Bradley. "She missed the first two weeks of practice this year because she came on the team late. Even though she has done well for the team, and with some experience this year, next year she'll be great."

Also running well for the girls team are the other captains besides Michelle Brush, Meghan Fudge and Jackie Brown all juniors.

"Meghan always runs well and is very consistent," said Bradley. "Jackie is a great long distance runner but is suffering with some injuries. She is still running and doing well. She really comes through for her team."

Coming up for the cross country teams is North Reading and Amesbury. "We prepare for each meet as the come up," said Bradley. "We are practicing every day and always improving."

Both the boys and girls teams are rebuilding and very young. The only two seniors are on the boys team.

Austin racked up a total of 284 yards of offense and 15 first downs, while holding St. Mary's to 47 yards and 2 first downs. Anthony Castellano had another stellar day, rushing for 102 yards on 16 carries and two touchdowns. The senior from Georgetown now has a total of 583 yards rushing and 50 points for the season.

Senior halfback Ben Coppola (Groveland) came off the injured list with a terrific performance, contributing 98 yards rushing, 27 yards receiving, and a touchdown. The Cougars are undefeated, with a record of 4-0.

This coming Saturday's homecoming game against Arlington Catholic will mark the opening of Austin's Catholic Central League Large Schools competition.

Soccer

Austin Prep boys' and girls' soccer had a tough week despite impressive defensive efforts. The Cougar boys lost to Catholic Memorial, 2-1, Arlington Catholic, 5-1, and Bishop Fenwick, 0-2. The girls lost to Arlington Catholic, 2-0, and Fenwick 4-1. "The soccer teams have had some tough losses," said Austin Athletic Director Dave Johnson, "but they're playing very hard and putting in some strong performances for such young teams."

Cougars of the Week

Austin's Cougars of the Week are John Cuoco and Renee Dudley. These cross country stars placed first in the boys' and girls' races, respectively, leading Austin to impressive Catholic Central League wins over St. Mary's and Savio Prep.

E White squad pitches the shutout

Wilmington E White 13 Burlington 0
The Wilmington Wildcats E White hosted Burlington at Palmer Field and ran away with a 13-0 victory.

The Wildcats, sponsored by Brady Roofing, received the opening kickoff and immediately went at the middle of the Burlington defense. With strong off tackle runs by Nolan Giroux, Evan Butters and Derek Queen, Wilmington powered the ball to the Burlington 10 yard line.

However, Burlington came up with some good defensive plays coupled with a Wilmington offside penalty, to keep Wilmington from moving any closer.

Burlington could not muster any offense against the Wildcat steel curtain defense of Bone Crusher Layton, Jimmy the flying man Welch, Eric Del'Anno, Pat Magliano and Connor Brennan. Wilmington took over on downs as the first quarter came to an end.

Wilmington came right back to their up the middle running game behind the power blocking of Ryan Malone, Derek Mayo, Killian Smith and Will Prince as Wilmington advanced the ball to Burlington's 30 yard line. Kevin Moriarty then faked a handoff up the middle and sprinted around left end for the go ahead touchdown. This was a fake Peyton Manning would have been proud of. The extra point was unsuccessful.

From this point on till the half the Wildcats Green Beret defense took over, not letting Burlington achieve more than one first down. Providing outstanding big hits for the Wilmington green defense were Patrick Dunn, Matthew Costello, Ryan Walsh, Kyle Skinner, Corey Lee, Kevin Murphy and Mike Wandell. Wilmington dominated the line of scrimmage on both sides of the ball as the half ended with Wilmington leading 6-0.

The second half started with Wilmington again overpowering Burlington with its swarming defense. Leading the killer bees on defense for the Wildcats were Nolan Giroux, Matt McKenna, Derek Queen, Steven Reynolds, Robert Sutura, and John all purpose Parsons.

At this point Wilmington's Red offense, patiently waiting their turn to show their stuff, decided to put the game away. Highlight run of the series was Kevin Moriarty scoring his second touchdown with a zig zagging, crowd pleasing, oh my run of 40 yards. Supplying the breakout blocks were Timothy McCarthy, David Rygiel, Alexander Williams, James Perry and Ryan Malone.

After a penalty put the ball on the 17 yard line, Kevin Moriarty hit Derek Queen on a wide out screen, and Derek responded by instinctively cutting across the grain and scoring the extra point.

Wilmington was on the verge of turning the game into a rout as Kevin Murphy and Evan Butters had successive touchdown runs, but alas, phantom penalties.

Something similar happened on defense when Jimmy Welch, playing his best game in eight years attending Wilmington Pop Warner football games, forced two Burlington fumbles which appeared to be recovered by Wilmington only to have Burlington maintain possession.

Nonetheless, these were very exciting and coach pleasing plays. This Sunday Wilmington Mighty Mite Whites will host Woburn at Palmer Field.

E Blue team takes care of opponent

E Blue Cats 12, Burlington 0
On Sunday Wilmington's E-Blue boys set out early on that cold morning to face a team they haven't beaten in at least five years. September 30, marks the first win for E-Blue against Burlington.

It was also funny to see another team with a turnout problem, to have only 17 boys on their sideline, brings back memories of the old days of E-Blue. All the Wilmington teams have had a great turnout of young boys and girls participating in Pop Warner.

Starting two years ago with our C team getting into the playoffs, our D team last year going all the way to Rhode Island for the regional championship and winning it! This year our turnout rate is at its highest ever. Both E teams starting out with 35 players on each team and almost as many on the D team.

The C team has about 24 boys, B team carrying their own weight and the A team with astonishing turnout; as much as 28 boys. Maybe this all has to do with wins or great dedication by all coaches or new direction from our Pop Warner organization. That it is exciting to see four of our six teams undefeated so far 4-0.

Playoff berths are already in sight for the three older boys' teams. Unfortunately E-Blue, being instructional league, cannot participate in the playoffs, but that's not going to keep us from jumping up and down. To be the first E team ever to be 4-0 in a season is extremely exciting. Our offense had a tough day. It was very cold which made it very hard for Anthony Bruce to get the ball to Sean Hanley. And with Burlington having their biggest guy over the nose made it even harder. Jaymie Spears executed the team's "Statute of Liberty" play very well.

But it was the overall team defense which was the difference in the win. They held Burlington to only 35 yards all game long. The Burlington Patriots were getting very frustrated not being able to execute many of their plays. Their QB being sacked twice, once by Michael Brent who had an astonishing game.

A couple of boys making their debuts in key positions were Nick Girardi who was our kicker for the day, dropping the ball 20 yards deep in Burlington's territory. Also Tyler Hubner as running back getting a critical first down for the boys in blue. Jacob Bailey doing a great job backing up his defensive lineman.

With four games under our belt and four more to go, with Woburn being our next game, will be a big test for this undefeated Wilmington team to face Woburn 3-0-1.

The accomplishments could not have been made without the sincere dedication that my coaching staff has, and they should be thanked very much for taking time out of their busy lives to teach the fundamentals of football to these seven, eight and nine year old boys. Thanks Mike Nihan, Steve Baker and Dan Halliday.

Under 10B Boys edge Medford, 1-0

The U10 B boys' soccer team closed the doors on rival Medford at Shawshen last Saturday, winning the match at 1-0.

The game opened amidst brisk autumn weather with Nick Boutoures mastering the goal for the first half. Forwards Kevin Flaherty, Eric Murray and Caleb Rogers began their dribble pass style as Jacob Briere and Chris Cazeau steadfastly maintained a defensive block, thwarting all Medford attempts.

The next shift brought in a scrappy forward line comprised of James Marra, Dan McCauley and Jared Ravagni, immediately rushing the Medford net. Marra had three shots on net while Ravagni displayed a head on attempt himself.

Lance Flaherty made several powerful kicks, clearing the ball whenever it managed to make it into Wilmington's end. The first half of the game, though spirited, remained scoreless at halftime.

With Ravagni now between the pipes, L. Flaherty and Murray bolstered the tough Wildcat defense. Marra again had a shot on net, bouncing it off the post. A shift in lines brought in defensemen Boutoures and Cazeau while Briere, K. Flaherty and Rogers tried to run the ball into the Medford zone.

In short time, Rogers kicked the ball into range where it deflected off three Medford players before ricocheting into the net for a goal. The final score stood at 1-0. Overall, the U10B Wildcats' season stands at 3-1.

Wilmington vs Reading

The Wildcats met rival Reading on Saturday, September 22 at Longwood Place field for a hot and humid afternoon of soccer. Perhaps the unseasonable warmth or the post lunch game start were factors, but the Wildcats did not exhibit their best running game.

The spectacular goal tending of Nick Boutoures and Jared Ravagni held the score to 2-0 though shabby officiating robbed James Marra of a goal enroute to scoring inside the box when he was suddenly tripped from behind, drawing no penalty call.

Offensive players for the day were Jacob Briere, Marra, Dan McCauley, Eric Murray and Caleb Rogers. The defense was comprised of Chris Cazeau, Chris Cieplik, Kevin Flaherty and Lance Flaherty.

Squirt D's shutout streak continues

The Wilmington Squirt D hockey team kept its season opening unbeaten streak alive last weekend, dealing twin shutouts to teams from Lynnfield and Nashoba.

In the Lynnfield game at Pingree School on Saturday, the Wildcats peppered Lynnfield's red hot goalie, Matt LaBarge, with an eye catching 35 shots, but managed only two goals to take the game 2-0 behind some tight defensive forechecking and heads up goaltending.

Despite the persistent barrage of shots by Wilmington, this was anybody's game until the third period as the D's didn't put up their first goal until late in the second period. With just 38 seconds left, defenseman Alex Williams got the puck to winger Brian Coutu and Coutu tucked it in to break the scoring standoff and put Wilmington out in front.

Then early in the third period Coutu again went top shelf with a backhand for an insurance goal that gave the D's a 2-0 lead with 9:14 remaining. Dominic McCann got the well deserved assist on that play.

But a big part of the game was Wilmington's defense. Sean Tavares, Brian Fitzpatrick, Kyle Gaffey and Alex Williams, along with netminder Zach Rosa, shut down Lynnfield's attack for three periods and bought the offense the time it needed to finally penetrate Lynnfield's formidable goaltending. Rosa seems to have settled nicely into his new found position and looked like an old pro in earning his second shutout of the season.

Offensively for Wilmington, Tom Callahan, Andrew Flodin, Colin Carter, Bret Kidik, John See and their line mates were relentless providing a seamless attack from one line change to another.

In its faceoff against Nashoba on Sunday at Skate 3, the shootfest continued, this time with the D's unleashing 33 shots at the beleaguered Dual State goalie and winning 11-0.

Literally every player got into the act offensively for Wilmington with most scoring multiple points while Nashoba on the other hand, with only 10 players, had difficulty raising any sort of threat against Wilmington's defense.

John Moriarty led the rest of his teammates with a hat trick and two assists, while John See had two goals and three assists in this lopsided game. Other scorers were: Cole Carter, Brian Fitzpatrick, Kyle Gaffey, Andrew Flodin (two) and Sean Tavares.

Fitzpatrick also amassed four assists, while Bret Kidik, Dominic McCann, Andrew Flodin, Tom Callahan and Kyle Gaffey added a bunch more for the Wildcats. Goalie Brian Coutu got the shutout.

"Don't Buy A New Furnace Until You Know These 5 'Loopholes'!"

All heating companies are not alike.

Your furnace is probably the most expensive appliance you'll ever buy for your home. And since you'll be living with it for the next 10 to 20 years, it only makes sense to avoid a nightmare.

Here are the 5 most important things to know before you buy a new furnace.

- 1. Waste not. Many furnaces are replaced that don't need to be. They can be inexpensively fixed compared to the age of the unit. And worse, the new system can cost almost as much to operate as the old one. Call us and we'll give you an exact way to know if your furnace should be replaced.
- 2. The money pit. Avoid spending a lot more money after you get your new furnace installed. Demand a written agreement that the installer will protect your floors and carpets, use wall protectors and thoroughly clean up after he's finished.
- 3. Blowin' in the wind. Simply installing a new furnace isn't going to guarantee better heat and lower energy costs. If the installer isn't careful about checking to see that your ductwork is clean and unclogged, you could be throwing heating dollars out of the front door. Your furnace will be working overtime to force heat through a clogged duct system.

- 4. Brandy envy. You've seen all the big expensive ads showing one brand over another. Now, here's the "dirty little secret" they don't want you to know. Only about one-fifth of the satisfaction you're going to get is the result of the brand you choose. The other 80% is how well it's installed. And there are 8 crucial procedures that should be properly done, if not, the brand is irrelevant.
- 5. Concrete guarantee. Some companies have a guarantee that stops as soon as they leave your concrete driveway. For your own protection INSIST on a written 100% Money Back Guarantee For Any Reason.

If you've been told you need to replace your furnace, we will happily give you a FREE SECOND OPINION so you can have all the facts. Also, there is NO cost or obligation for one of our FREE estimates. Call now...

Under 9C Girls take on tough opponent

The Wilmington U9-C girls travel team was in Lincoln Saturday, Sept. 29 to face Hanscom. This was the fourth game of the season for Wilmington and so far its toughest opponent.

Hanscom had a very aggressive team that kept Wilmington on its heels through most of the first half. First half keepers Christy Bush and Kelly Duffy were kept very busy in the first half making some super stops and clearing the ball out for their forwards. Christy Evon came out of her goalkeepers role to help out as a forward.

Hanscom kept the pressure on sending four girls into Wilmington's box pressuring our defense. Hanscom was able to score only one goal in the first half. On Wilmington's defensive side Kelly Flaherty did a great job winning the ball and moving it up to her forwards.

Also playing a huge part on defense was Elizabeth Jaeske breaking up plays and clearing the ball. Meanwhile on the offensive side, Samantha Reed and Amanda Brazell were working hard to keep the pressure on Hanscom with help from forward Alyssa Fiorentino.

Wilmington adjusted better to Hanscom's pressure in the second half working hard to try to even the score.

Heather Kelos and Stefany Mason made some tremendous rushes with some shots on goal that they were just not able to get by Hanscom's keeper.

In the defensive side, Jessica Maienza made some incredible plays going right at the larger Hanscom players and winning the ball. Haley Robarge was making some sensational plays on her side of the defensive zone as well. Fiona Gately was working hard in the offensive zone as well trying hard to work the ball past Hanscom.

Kelly Duffy was just sensational stopping several shots by Hanscom's large forwards. Late in the game Hanscom scored a goal on a break leaving the score 2-0 Hanscom. Keep up the hard work girls!

C Team scores win over Red Devils

C Team Wilmington 16, Burlington 6
Burlington got the first possession, but great defensive play from Joe Gore, Kyle Lunt and Kevin Carter, forced a turnover in downs. The Wildcats moved swiftly down the field with a series of first-down runs by Ernie Mello and Zack Fahey. They received great blocking from teammates Johnny Kincaid, Dan McCarthy and Lou Cimaglia.

However, they didn't capitalize on this series. Burlington took over, but were unable to move much thanks to awesome defensive play from Marc Grassia and Andy Valente.

The Cats took over. Ernie Mello had a great run down to about the 10 yard line, followed by another great run to bring the ball down to the two yard line. Jimmy Celeste got some blocking help from Steve Baker and Josh Himmel and was able to push through the end zone for the Cats first touchdown.

An excellent kick by Matt Figueiredo added two more points. Andy Valente made a great tackle on Burlington's kickoff return, but on the next play Burlington broke out and ran the ball all the way down field for a score. Great D from the Cats prevented the extra point.

Good offensive play from Kyle Hemenway and John McGowan helped to move the Cats down field, but they weren't able to capitalize on this series.

Burlington did little more with its possession thanks to the defensive play of Josh Himmel, Lou Cimaglia and Dan McCarthy. Zack Fahey got an interception to give the ball back to Wilmington. Ernie Mello had another great run just as the half ended. Wilmington offense came back strong after the half. Some great blocking from Dave Reed, Joe Gore and Jim Celeste gave Ernie Mello some space for a great first down run.

A beautiful pass from Nick Clark to Anthony Morlani gave the Cats another important first down, and another impressive run by Ernie Mello gave the Cats another first down. Zack Fahey took advantage of some blocking from teammates Johnny Kincaid, Dave Reed and Lou Cimaglia and had a nice run into the end zone for the Cats' second touchdown.

Matt Figueiredo's kick was good again for another two.

More strong defense from Tom Barron, Pat Cassidy and Cory Groves and a great tackle from Anthony Morlani forced Burlington to turn over the ball. Matt Companschi, John McGowan and Kyle Lunt had some great offensive play with Ernie Mello picking up another nice run.

Burlington's next possession didn't last long with a fumble recovery by Nick Clark. Andrew Valente got another fumble recovery on Burlington's last possession as the game ended.

The C-Team would like to thank the cheerleaders for their wonderful cheering, and their family and friends for their support.

B Team

Wilmington 20, Burlington 6
Nice tackles from Josh Mayo, Josh Cuhna and Ryan Olivieri stopped Burlington from accomplishing much with their first possession. Mike Larfarello had a couple of first down runs getting blocking help from teammates Jerry Smith and Josh Bodah. Greg Stewart threw a great pass to Ryan Olivieri who ran it all the way down to the 20.

Burlington recovered a fumble, but the Cats got the ball right back when Sean MacSweeney tackled and stripped the ball away from Burlington. Another beautifully executed pass from Greg Stewart to Ryan Olivieri gave the Cats another first down.

With blocking from Josh Giroux, Gerry Gagne and Ryan Smiddy, Dana Steenbruggen ran another first down. This brought the ball down to within the five yard line. Mike Larfarello got the ball and pushed through into the end zone for the Cats first touchdown. Greg Stewart ran in for the extra point.

Kyle Borseti, Josh Bodah and Sean MacSweeney all made excellent tackles to hold Burlington's offense at a standstill.

An interception by Sean MacSweeney gave the ball back to the Cats. Another fantastic catch by Ryan Olivieri gave the Cats a great gain, but in the next play an interception turned it over to Burlington.

Great defensive play by Mike Bartlett and Dan Patterson along with a couple of tackles from Mike Larfarello kept Burlington at bay until a last ditch effort by Burlington just before the half paid off with a score for them.

Great D by Wilmington blocked the extra point attempt. After the half the Wilmington offense came back strong with great blocking from Brendan O'Riordan and Kyle Borseti making way for nice runs by Josh Cuhna and Sean MacSweeney.

Another perfectly executed pass from Greg Stewart to Ryan Olivieri gave the Cats an important first down. John Cuhna had another excellent run to bring the Cats down to within the 10. Greg Stewart ran in for the Cats second td on a quarter-back keeper.

Mike Bartlett, Josh Mayo and Mike Mastropietro all provided great defensive play forcing a turnover on downs. Two more excellent receptions by Ryan Olivieri of Greg Stewart passes brought the Wild-cats quickly down field. Gerry Gagne and Josh Giroux continued to provide blocking enabling two nice runs by Dana Steenbruggen and Mike Larfarello.

Josh Cuhna got the ball on the 10 and ran it into the end zone for the Cats' third TD. Ryan Olivieri was in the end zone to catch the ball for the extra point. A fumble recovery by Sean MacSweeney ended Burlington's last possession just as the game ended.

The B-Team would like to thank their cheerleaders for their great cheering and their friends and family for their support.

Under 11 Girls host Waltham

Coach Tom Warnick's U11 a girls continued their Division One play by hosting Waltham on a cool, sunny Saturday. As play developed Wilmington caught Waltham off guard with their aggressive play. The U11 Fire ignited early as midfielder Kelly Walsh sent a perfect pass, splitting Waltham's defense, to a streaking Janelle Femino who out ran the defenders and scored goal one for the Fire.

With midfielders Courtney Ryan, Devon Murphy, Danielle Polcari and Lauren Nassif controlling the ball the Fire continued the attack on a stunned Waltham. Maureen Worthington sent another great pass to the front lines resulting in a blistering shot on net. Waltham's keeper came up big and answered with a huge punt and attacking forwards deep into Fire territory.

Enter Charlotte Jensen, Lisa Rooker, Amanda Church and Nicole Bockus who denied this and several Waltham assaults. Nicole constantly frustrated Waltham from her sweeper position beating their forwards to and setting the ball for Wilmington's midfielders. Theresa McMan picked up where Nicole passed off and carried past Waltham and found Natalie Russo in midfield.

With the ball in Fire control the offense burned Waltham again. Kristin Browne drove deep into Waltham territory as their defenders converged. Stephanie Benson came out from a huddle of defenders and passed to a hustling Lauren Nasiff.

A great shot on a dazed Waltham keeper resulted in a loose ball frenzy! An alert Elizabeth Chin fired in goal two for the U11's.

Waltham pressured just before the end of the half testing goal keeper Casey Pickett only to be denied but sending a message that they would not lie down for Wilmington.

Waltham came out determined in the second half. With a new lineup the U11's seemed to be taken a bit off guard as Waltham was allowed to hang around the net too long.

The Fire regained control as Stephanie Warnick helped assert midfield dominance. Another great pass to Kristin Browne and some nice foot work ended with a Courtney Ryan rocket on net but again the Fire was denied. Waltham pressured with a few salvos of their own. Theresa McMan deflected a hard shot and saved a possible game winning play.

With the clock ticking and the momentum in their favor Waltham managed to score the tying goal. Wilmington hustled back as a Kelly Walsh kick hit the crossbars as the whistle sounded.

Cyclones remain perfect

Wilmington's U12-A Cyclone team continued its winning ways this weekend with a big win against Woburn on Saturday. Wilmington put on the offensive pressure early with Christa Cavallaro and Natalie Melkonian leading the team in the forward position backed by strong play by Lauren Frissore in the midfield.

The Cyclones hit the score board first when Stephanie Sauve blasted a corner kick at the Woburn keeper. The keeper hit down the ball but was unable to hold on to it. Erin Muise was all over the rebound sending it into the net for the score.

Jen O'Neill and Brittany Concannon worked relentlessly in the midfield setting up their teammates with scoring opportunities. Defensive wings Amanda Lord and Casey Godzyk played solid games on the field for the Cyclones keeping Woburn at bay.

Midway through the first half, Woburn was able to even the score after a misdirected kick by Wilmington. The Cyclones earned an assist on this one as the ball was sent backwards right to the foot of a Woburn player, setting them up with a perfect scoring opportunity.

The team continued to press Woburn with Renee Suprenant taking shifts at both forward and midfield. Katie Cole had some great high flying shots on net throughout the half, but the teams went into the break all tied up at 1-1.

With each team creating some runs and no one able to penetrate, the game was becoming a battle of the defense. Wilmington's entire defense stepped up and played superbly to set the tone for the remainder of the match. Colleen Magee played another fantastic game as sweeper, never faltering as she cleared the ball time and again out of Wilmington's zone.

Jessica Labrecque at stopper has become a key player in the defensive line with her continuous solid play. Dana Nolan and Nicole Nihan also had great games on the field for the team making key plays to shut down Woburn's offense. Playing aggressively behind the defense was keeper Leah Potcner who continually came up with the ball when it made its way into her zone.

With just a minute or so to play, and Wilmington pressing hard for the win, Erin Muise found an opening and sent another one into the twine for her second big goal of the game. This one sealed the victory for the team and the game ended with Wilmington on top 2-1.

The Cyclones continue play this weekend at Devens Field in Ayer on Sunday where they will take part in the Big Apple Tournament with friendly matches against teams from New York.

At a perfect 4-0-0 the Cyclones go into the second half of the season with a Columbus Day weekend game against the always tough Wakefield. The ongoing rivalry continues with both teams coming into the contest with perfect records. The Cyclones are hoping to repeat history and hold onto their's by putting yet another blemish on Wakefield's. Good luck Cyclones!

Mite D's offense explodes

On Saturday, September 29 on the first full weekend of autumn, the Wilmington Wildcat Mite D team exploded for 26 total goals against overmatched Nashua and Reading teams.

The first game was marked by consistent and relentless offensive pressure against Nashua. The Cats came out flying from the opening faceoff and never let up. The team used swarming pressure in the offensive zone to stifle any attack that Nashua could attempt.

Head coach Jimmy Dee shook up the lineup this week and rotated many of the players into new positions. Despite these changes the boys and girls were almost flawless in their execution as they overcame the initial confusion and played with intensity the entire game. This intensity and teamwork has been the hallmark of the team since the first game of the season.

The offense was paced by defensemen Jackie Mulrenan and Nick Pino, left winger JT Lynch and right winger Jimmy O'Neill who each netted two goals. Mulrenan had two end-to-end rushes and connected each time. Lynch had a breakaway opportunity broken up by the Nashua defender but recovered the loose puck in the left corner and stickhandled around the faceoff circle and fired a low corner shot to complete the pretty goal.

O'Neill had two nifty goals using his speed and stickhandling capabilities as he moved through the defense and into position to beat the Nashua goalie. Pino twice gathered loose pucks at the blue line and quickly moved up into the attacking zone to score. Nick used some nifty stickwork and footwork to avoid the Nashua defenders as he attacked the net.

Rounding out the scoring was Nick Luise, Ian Haggerty and Steven Taylor with a goal apiece and Daniel Keane and Meaghan Souza who each scored their first goals of the season.

Although he saw little action, once again Tyler "Stonewall" Stillings was flawless in net as he preserved the shutout. This game was truly a team effort as the team demonstrated skating, passing, defense and goaltending consistent with a much older team.

The second of the two games played on Saturday, September 29 was at the Ristuccia Center and the Mite D Wildcats once again rolled to victory. As in the previous game against Nashua, the Cats scored early and often against the Reading Mite "D" squad.

Danny Dighton exploded for four goals as he consistently moved the puck into good scoring position. On one of his four goals Danny moved through numerous defenders, faked the goalie and fired a low shot into the corner of the net for a nice goal.

Jackie Mulrenan had another fine game scoring a hat trick with another beautiful end to end rush through the entire Reading squad. Steven Taylor, Ian Haggerty and Jimmy O'Neill had two goals apiece. Each of the boys used some good moves and hustle to make sure the puck found its way into the back of the net.

Defensively Frankie Cerbone and Nick Pino made numerous plays at the Reading blue line to keep the puck in the attacking zone. They also broke up most of the few offensive chances Reading mustered. Jon-Luke Dee and Tommy See were also a force in the corners for the Cats and prevented the opposition from moving the puck out of their own end.

In goal, Tyler Stillings was once again flawless in net with the lone Reading goal being scored on a defensive miscue in front of the Wilmington net.

The Mite D's improved their record to 7-0 with an amazing 59 goals scored and only six allowed. The team roster is Tyler Stillings, Tommy See, Daniel Keane, Jimmy O'Neill, Steven Taylor, Nick Pino, Ian Haggerty, Jackie Mulrenan, Danny Dighton, Frankie Cerbone, Jon-Luke Dee, Nick Luise, JT Lynch, Meaghan Souza and Tommy Shafer. The team is led by head coach Jim Dee and assistants Butch O'Neill, Dave Souza, Mike Luise and John Lynch.

Mite E's split pair of hockey games

The Wilmington Mite E team kicked off its 2001-2002 Valley League campaign with a split of the first two games.

Because of the success of last year's Mite teams, the Wilmington Mite E team was placed into a pairings bracket which includes two Mite D teams and four Mite C teams.

In game 1, the Wildcats faced off against a tough Billerica C team. Wilmington carried the play for much of the game, which was highlighted by a penalty shot by Cameron Owens who was tripped breaking down the left side on a breakaway.

The Billerica goalie made a superb save on the penalty shot by Owens. Wilmington out shot Billerica two to one but fell short 3-3 in its first game. The first goal was scored by Matthew Toto who was camped in front and put away a rebound of a Gordon Fitch shot early in the second period Toto the game at one.

Paul Barbaro evened the score at two when he broke in from center ice blowing past the Billerica defense and blasting a shot into the corner of the net, great passing by Brian Pickett and Cameron Collins allowed Barbaro to break in alone.

Cameron Owens opened up the scoring in the third when he deposited a rebound of a Brian Callahan shot, again tying the game at three. Wilmington continued to carry the play in the third, but a couple of bad bounces allowed Billerica to come away with the win.

Great defense was displayed by Cameron Babine, Trevor Foley, Jeffrey Goossens, Chris Newton, and Nikhil Dixit.

Great forechecking was turned in by Mike Ciampa and Linden Hayes. Nicholas Dirienzo was solid in net foiling numerous chances by Billerica, he was able to turn away 15 of the opponents 20 shots.

Game two saw the Wildcats face off against the Beverly Mite D team. Wilmington was looking to even its record right from the first face off.

At 8:54 of the first period, Brian Pickett deposited a Cameron Owens pass into the open corner for his first goal of the short season.

The forwards of Wilmington were not allowing the Beverly defense time to advance the puck in their own end, constant forechecking resulted in numerous turnovers and countless scoring chances for the Wildcats.

Cameron Owens doubled the lead early in the second period when he scored on a beautiful pass from Nick Dirienzo. The Mite 5 squad iced the game in the third when Brian Callahan scored his first of the year on a great passing play by Cameron Owens.

Then late in the game Cameron Owens capped a four point night with his second goal of the game on an end to end rush. Linden Hayes stopped every shot Beverly threw at him to post the first shutout of the young season. Wilmington posted its first win with a 4-0 shut-out.

Mite E's look to continue success

The Wildcats took the ice against Andover for a 11 a.m. tilt on Saturday the 29th. Wilmington, who was coming off a big win the week before, was looking to pick up their second win of the young season.

At 3:51 of the first period, the Wildcats jumped out to an early lead when Nick Dirienzo sent Cameron Owens away up the left side with a beautiful break out pass.

Owens sped past the Andover defense and with a nifty move deposited the puck into the net for the only score of the first period. In the second period the line of Gordon Fitch, Michael Ciampa and Chris Newton took over for the Wildcats.

First, Michael Ciampa took a pass from Fitch and with a burst of speed he split the Andover defense and blasted a shot past the Andover net minders to put the Wildcats up by two.

Then at the 1:29 mark, Ciampa returned the favor by feeding Gordon Fitch in front of the Andover net, Fitch fired the puck and found the five hole to stake Wilmington to a 3-0 lead. Chris Newton also assisted on the play.

Wilmington began to celebrate a little too early and Andover took advantage, scoring two goals in the last minute of play to steal the momentum from the Wildcats.

The Wildcats started the final period with the line of Cameron Collins, Paul Barbaro and Trevor Foley whose relentless forechecking produced numerous scoring chances throughout the game. The strategy seemed to work with Wilmington taking back control of the game.

The third period proved to be a battle of goalies. Neither goalie would allow the opposing team to score. Brian Pickett held his ground and jumped on every loose puck in front of his net, not allowing a single rebound in the third. Pickett turned away every offering from Andover, stopping all eight shots in the third to allow the Wildcats to capture their second win.

The defense of Cameron Babine, Nikhil Dixit, Matthew Toto, Jeffrey Goossens, and Brian Callahan once again were solid, not allowing a single second shot on Pickett.

Cats blank Woburn, 9-0

Wilmington 9, Woburn 0

On Saturday afternoon, Wilmington beat Woburn in their second dual state game. Craig Bernard had another great game in net and his second shutout.

A strong defensive team of Kevin Moriarty, Adam Martiniello, Brian Good and Cori Michals helped by keeping the puck out of the zone, allowing only one shot on net. Jim Stokes opened the first period with an unassisted goal followed by Dennis Gingras assisted by Andy Owens, Joe Aucoin assisted by Chris Ryan and Jim Stokes, Andy Owens assisted by Dennis Gingras and John Malone all had goals in the first period.

One minute into the second period Tom Cushing assisted by Adam Siegel led off with goals followed by Chris Ryan assisted by Jim Stokes, Adam Siegel assisted by Tom Cushing finished out the period. Coming out strong in the third period, Jim Stokes assisted by Joe Aucoin and Chris Ryan assisted by Jim Stokes and Joe Aucoin closed out the offensive attack. Scott Derondes' solid play helped make it possible for Wilmington to dominate offensively.

Wilmington 10, No. Andover 1
Wilmington continued to play strong hockey both offensively and defensively. Joe Aucoin was in net for this game, allowing only one goal. The defensive team consisting of John Malone, Dennis Gingras, Brian Good, Jim Stokes and Chris Ryan kept No. Andover out of our end.

Wilmington scored early in the game starting with Adam Martiniello assisted by Cori Michals and Tom Cushing, followed by Adam Siegel assisted by Dennis Gingras, Adam Martiniello's second goal of the period was unassisted.

The second period's scoring

The Wilmington Squirt C's continued their winning ways with another lopsided win last Thursday against Wakefield in Dual State action. Pat Enwright's hat trick and two goals each by Brendan Collins and Patrick Boudreau propelled Wilmington to an 11-2 victory at Hockeytown in Saugus.

Wilmington controlled the first two minutes of play with several scoring chances. It was Wakefield, however, that scored first on a surprise goal when they finally got possession.

Collins got Wilmington on the board after center Paul Duffy won started off with an unassisted goal by Cori Michals followed shortly after with an unassisted goal by Tom Cushing; Drew Cummings assisted by Adam Siegel, Craig Bernard assisted by Kevin Moriarty, Tom Cushing assisted by Cori Michals and two unassisted goals by Jim Stokes. Scott Deronde and Andy Owens were critical in the strong offensive play by Wilmington.

The ensuing face-off and winger Ryan Kennedy fed him in front. From that point on the game mostly belonged to Wilmington. At 6:01 Sean Keane, waiting in front, took a pass from Charlie Gendron behind the net and put his team up 2-1.

A roughing penalty put Wilmington on the powerplay before the period ended. Keane and defenseman Charles Barbaro set up Enwright for the man-advantage goal.

The ice at Hockeytown was soft and wet and moving the puck was tough but in the second period Wilmington passed and shot well enough to outscore Wakefield 5-1.

Matt Larfarello started it off early in the period when he took a perfect feed from winger Eric Parsons in the left corner. Larfarello's goal came at 11:22. Defenseman Cody Wilkins then carried the puck the length of the ice and put a high wrist shot into the upper corner of the net.

Wilmington went up 6-1 when Enwright scored his second goal.

He was in the right corner when Keane got the puck to him. He skated out front and tucked it home. At 4:12 Wakefield managed a break-in and got their second goal.

Boudreau scored his first of two when Parsons once again fed him a perfect pass from the left corner. Before the period ended Collins notched his second goal from in front of the net with Kennedy assisting.

In the third period the Squirt C's demonstrated how dominant they were in all facets of the game: Puck control, back-checking, defense, and beating the opposition to the puck.

At the 7:57 mark the line of Boudreau, Larfarello, and Parsons struck again. Boudreau tallied his second goal on a feed from Larfarello.

At one point a Wakefield forward broke away and came rushing in alone to face goaltender Steve Cadigan. Cadigan stood up to him and made the save. Shortly after that, Enwright completed his hat trick. Gendron moved the puck up the boards where Keane collected it and skated up ice. He found Enwright in front and Enwright's goal made the score 10-2. Wilmington wasn't through yet however. With under three minutes to play, on the power play, Kennedy and Collins set up defenseman "Bug" Robertson and he scored the final goal.

The Squirt C's, sponsored by the Wilmington Arena Authority, will return to Hockeytown on Thursday for a rematch with Andover and then move on to the Merrimack Valley Forum for a Saturday match up with Newburyport

Defense leads the Mite C's to pair of wins

Wilmington Mite C's played both a Valley League game and a Dual State game on Saturday. They shut out both teams which gives them three shutouts in a row.

The Valley League game against Reading was played at Wilmington at 1:20. Brendan Munro was in net and stopped everything he faced. He was helped by the great defense of John Langenfeld, Tyler MacInnis, Brett Meuse and Daniel Creedon, who also got an assist.

Captain for the game was Kelly Brandano who played right wing on a line with Matt Dee, who had an assist and center Patrick Magliano who had a goal. Sara Alonardo, wearing the A for the game, was on a line with John Hughson and Conor Brennan. They helped keep the play in the offensive zone.

Putting the most points on the board was the line of David Sugrue (two goals), Justin Ferreira (two assists) and Dominic Dirupo, one goal, one assist.

This was the toughest game the Wildcats have played so far. Reading had the potential to put some points on the board but were stopped by another great team effort.

At 3:40 the same day Wilmington C's had to be in Tyngsboro for a Dual State game against Salem, N.H. Brendan Munro was in net again and posted his second shut-out of the day. He made some great saves including one on a breakaway which was Salem's best scoring chance.

The defense was again made up of Brett Meuse, Daniel Creedon, Tyler MacInnis and John Langenfeld. They were joined by Frankie Mearls who missed the first game because he was playing soccer. The defense limited the shots on net to eight while also figuring in the scoring. John Langenfeld, wearing the A for the game, got a goal and an assist. Tyler MacInnis had two assists.

The forward line of John Hughson, Sara Alonardo and Conor Brennan were able to keep pressure on Salem's goalie as they kept swarming the net.

Dominic Dirupo centered a line with David Sugrue who had an assist and left winger Justin Ferreira who had a goal. Captain Patrick Magliano who centered the last line, had a hat trick and an assist. Right wing on that line Kelly Brandano got two goals and two assist and on left wing Matt Dee had two assist.

The passing of the C team was again remarkable. It is so much fun to watch what these kids can do. Everyone on the team has scored at least one goal and one assist. They have not been scored on in any of their Dual State games. Those statistics show how well the Wildcats have been playing as a team. Keep up the great work!

Election time in Woburn is really special

...and the

John Curran

Election time is always very heated in the City of Woburn and with the "preliminaries", not primaries coming up next Tuesday things are at a boil this week as four candidates scramble for last minute votes for mayor and six vie for four spots as Alderman-At-Large in the final election Tuesday, November 6.

It has always been such in Woburn dating back to the late 1800's when the city charter was adopted.

Woburn is such a close community that only one of the ten candidates in Tuesday's election was not born and raised a Woburnite and most of the candidates have families that go back generations in the city. That's what a tight community it is.

Not all of Woburn's elections have stayed on as high a level as this one. On a number of occasions the political battles would become personal and bitter.

This year though the candidates have maintained on a relatively high road.

The four candidates for mayor include, John Cashell, John Curran, Thomas "Tucker" Guthro, and Bryan Melanson. All are native Woburnites and all have been in the political arena before including three of which ran for mayor before, Cashell, Curran and Guthro.

Curran and Melanson presently serve as Aldermen-

At-Large, while Guthro was an alderman back in the 1960's. He was also a candidate for mayor at that time and narrowly missed being elected two years ago when he reached the finals against incumbent Robert Dever. Cashell works at City Hall as Director of Planning for the city.

Principal among the issues that all will be called upon to deal with is quality of life versus growth. Sitting at the junction of rte 128 and 93, Woburn has exploded in the past recent years and its roadways in almost every sector show the ravages of increased traffic.

There is also lots of talk about leveling the old but popular Woburn High School in favor of a new building.

The Daily Times Chronicle Woburn edition is chock of full of ads each evening Monday thru Friday spelling out each candidate's programs and promises to the electorate.

A drive through Woburn center on any given supertime shows numerous signs holders all touting their own particular choice for the job.

The mayoral candidates are not the only ones. There are six candidates for the Alderman-At-Large spots (four in the preliminaries, two in the finals).

The six include present School Committee member Paul Denaro, Charles Doherty a former Ward alderman, Rob Farrow a new comer and youngest of the candidates at age 22, Joanna Gonsalves, the only female in the group, Dennis Russell, former School Committee Chairman and the only one of the candidates who is not a lifetime resident of the city, and Daniel Parrish another candidate who is in his 20's and looking to become a city leader.

Signs on lawns can be found in every sector of the city for each of these candidates and the roadways around Woburn common are also inundated with local supporters.

That's the way it is in Woburn politics. Woburn by any measure is a "tight" city with candidates relatives going back three and four generations.

The closeness of the city can be found in its youth groups, its civic organizations, at school events, just about everywhere you look there is someone who has a very special affection for Woburn and wants to give back to in the form of elective service.

Temper flare, there have even been court cases, but when the next election comes along there is another long list of individuals who want to protect, preserve and defend it proud history.

race is on!

Few if any cities in the entire commonwealth of Massachusetts have such a proud political tradition.

In Woburn people care, and they use the election process to make their feelings known. Next Tuesday that process will take place once again just like it has since the founding of the community in 1640. It's a way of life for Woburnites and all signs are that it will be the same for generations to come.

ANTHONY MANCONI

In many Italian homes years ago, a daily litany could be heard when a girl in the family reached her Sixteenth Birthday. "Get Married!, Get Married!" what do you want to be an Old Maid?"

However, with the boys in the family it was a lot different. I remember when cousin Mario told his mother Maria, that he had met a beautiful Irish Colleen and he had every intention of asking her to marry him.

Well, Aunt Maria nearly had a stroke. when she

The drama "Rope" to be presented in Stoneham

Beginning October 19 and running through November 4, the newly renovated Stoneham Theatre will present a production - the first professional in Massachusetts - of Patrick Hamilton's psychological thriller, "Rope," directed by Boston's Robert Walsh ("Lend Me a Tenor," "The People's House," "The Norman Conquests," "I Hate Hamlet," and "The Liar.")

Based on the sensational, brutal Leopold/Loeb murder case that stunned 1920's Chicago, Hamilton's finely-crafted drama was in 1948 transformed into a film (also entitled "Rope") starring James Stewart and Farley Granger, directed by Alfred Hitchcock.

Tickets for the Stoneham Theatre's production of "Rope" range from $25 - $35 each with discount tickets available for students, seniors and groups, as well as several levels of special "subscription" ticketing. The Stoneham Theatre is located at 395 Main St. in Stoneham. There is plenty of free parking.

Tickets can be purchased at the Theatre's Box office; Monday - Saturday from noon to 5 p.m., or by calling 781-279-2200.

The premise of "Rope" is rather simple: a pair of disaffected youths, Charles Greanillo and Wyndam Brandon (here played by Gerardo Rodriguez and William Church, respectively), decide to commit the "perfect murder." For their victim, they strangled him to death with a length of rope, they hide the corpse in a large wooden chest and then proceed to host a dinner party, replete with witty repartee, whose guest list includes the dead man's parents and his fiancée.

Among the other guests is a man named Rupert Cadell (played in the Hitchcock movie by James Stewart, and in the present production by Derek Stone Nelson, making his Stoneham Theatre debut), who has known both the murderers and their victim for years, and who eventually solves the case and exposes the killers.

In 1948, when the Hitchcock adaptation was made (it was by the way Hitch's first color film), the superior-versus-inferior debate offered the opportunity to comment, derisively, on Hitler's "master race" and "final solution" invective.

In the Stoneham Theatre's revival of "Rope," the action will be set in the period of the actual Leopold/Loeb crime itself which necessitates accurate yet lavish costume design, Gail Astrid Buckley, who like actor Nelson is making her Stoneham debut, is a costume Designer with a long and illustrious connection to this area. Her work has been seen in productions by Commonwealth Shakespeare, The Publik Theatre, Centerstage, the American Repertory Theatre, the Nora, and many other local companies. The show's lighting Designer, L. Stacy Eddy, is also well known to Boston-area theatregoers.

For more information on the Stoneham Theatre or their 2001/2002 season, please call Dawn Singh at 617-522-8633.

"A Summer Farewell"

The days and months have swiftly passed
And soon we'll feel the wintry blast.
Where once the rows of corn did grow,
Nature will sow her crop of snow.

Robins have come and said goodbye,
At night I've seen the geese fly high,
A harvest moon looks down below
Guarding a trout stream's gentle flow.

It's Nature's way to tell us all
To listen for her clarion call.
The time has come for us to know,
That Summer's gone with all its glow.

Have hope - for Summer will come again
For time like wheels will have no end.
Then geese and robins will say, "Hello"
And corn and flowers again will grow.

The Halloween Troop

Introducing the new Halloween Line

The word "Halloween" comes from a contraction of "All Hallows' Eve," the night before "All Hallows' Day," or All Saints' Day. Trick-or-treating came from a ninth-century custom in Europe called Souling. On All Souls' Day, early Christians would roam from village to village begging for square pieces of bread with currants, called "soul cakes." For each soul cake a beggar received, he would promise to say a prayer for the soul of a dead relative of the giver of the cake.

Spaulding scores with love

"A few months ago, Walter 'Whitie' Spaulding had never even been to the Massachusetts State House," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Now he has testified in it. Spaulding, a longtime Reading resident and a custodian at the Joshua Eaton School, is the author behind House Bill 1892, an act that would provide for voluntary contributions to an elderly trust fund under the income tax law.

"Spaulding is not a politically connected fellow, and admits to being a bit naive about the political process before his State House adventure began.

"I thought, a bit foolishly I guess, that this whole thing would get done quickly," said Spaulding. "It's now two years after we started, and I'm not sure where we are now, really."

"Spaulding's bill would create a voluntary checkoff box on income tax forms, which would contribute $1 to a trust fund for elderly care. According to Spaulding and his supporters, funds are critically needed to help support home health care providers and families caring for their elders at home, rather than opting for institutional care. Some family members are forced to give up their jobs, and are responsible for providing the care due to a shortage in state funding. While state funding hasn't actually been reduced, Medicare and Medicaid regulations are constantly changing and providing less and less care. That means more people are looking to use state funds, and the money is being spread very thin.

"Spaulding says the idea occurred to him when he and his siblings began caring for his mother, Loretta Spaulding, few years back.

Voyages of discovery: Reading Lynnfield, Wakefield, Burlington, Wilmington

"She had Parkinson's Disease, and was bed bound and required 24 hour care," said Spaulding. "Our goal, our wish, was to keep her at home and care for her. My family was very lucky in that there are five of us, and we were able to set up a care schedule in shifts. Many families don't have that option...."

"Spaulding has also testified on the merits of the bill before the Joint Committee of Taxation, of which Reading Rep. Paul Casey serves as Chairman. He brought along Kendra Cooper, Marjorie O'Donnell, Sally and Brendan Hoyt for moral support, and he feels the testimony went well....

"Unfortunately for Spaulding, the members of the Committee feel that they are faced with too many requests for checkoff boxes, and are apparently reluctant to go forward with the request.

"I received word from Brad Jones that it's 'gone to committee,' which means it is likely dead for this legislative session," said Spaulding. "I'm really not sure where things go from here."

"If anyone would like more information about H.1892, they are urged to call either Rep. Brad Jones at 617-722-2100, or Rep. Paul Casey at 617-722-2240."

Prostate cancer treatment

After a visit to the doctor, Jack Block was diagnosed with prostate cancer. Jack and his doctor discussed the treatment options available. Foremost in Jack's mind was controlling the spread of the cancer, but maintaining an active life was also important.

"After receiving my diagnosis, I was most concerned about treating the cancer. I also worried about how the different treatment options would affect my life," said Jack. "My doctor and I discussed the various treatments and together we decided on a course of action."

It was important to me to select a therapy that fit into my current active lifestyle." The treatment prescribed for Jack was Viadur (leuprolide acetate implant), a once yearly treatment for advanced prostate cancer. In March 2001, Bayer Corporation introduced Viadur, which offers patients flexibility and an alternative to the one-, three-, four-month injections currently in use.

Prostate cancer is the second most common type of cancer found in American men, after skin cancer. The American Cancer Society estimates approximately 198,100 new cases of prostate cancer will be diagnosed during 2001 with another 31,500 men dying of the disease this year. Source: American Cancer Society

"We have made a lot of progress in treating prostate cancer," said Leonard S. Marks, M.D., clinical associate professor, department of surgery/urology, UCLA School of Medicine.

"A variety of medical treatments, such as Viadur are available today that help men manage the disease effectively, with the flexibility of one-yearly dosing."

Census Bureau survey will gauge household wealth

A nationwide survey conducted by the Commerce Department's Census Bureau in 1995 found that the median net worth of U.S. households stood at $40,200 not statistically different from the 1993 level.

Beginning next October 1, Census Bureau field representatives will ask questions about household wealth and other topics of 37,500 U.S. households to determine if these numbers have changed. The questions are part of the survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP), designed to measure change over time. Selected households may remain in the survey through 2003.

"The SIPP provides the country not only with current and accurate income statistics, but also with data on household net worth, which is the value of assets, minus debts," said Arthur G. Dukakis, director of the Census Bureau's Boston regional office. "The information on household wealth paints a particularly vivid portrait for analysis and policymakers of the economic resources available to households at any given time."

The survey also tracks changes in people's jobs, the type of work they do, the number of people actively looking for work and education. Respondents also may be asked about other topics, such as retirement and pension plan coverage, child care and work schedules.

The summarized results will answer questions such as:

- Do more people have lapses in health insurance coverage now than in the past?
- How many households have IRAs or Keogh

A needed document

What's a Power of Attorney?

Just as a will is a vital part of your overall estate plan, so is Power of Attorney, which can ensure that your wishes are followed if you ever become incapacitated. A Power of Attorney is a legal document that grants someone you trust specific powers to handle your financial or personal affairs.

Not having a Power of Attorney could needlessly burden your family or friends. For example, if you became unable to care for yourself, someone close to you might need to ask the courts to name a guardian to act on your behalf. During the process, which can be costly and time-consuming, your affairs will be subject to public disclosure and you'll likely incur legal expenses. Meanwhile, bills can go unpaid and your finances can languish unattended.

TYPES OF POWER OF ATTORNEY

The person you appoint under a Power of Attorney document is usually referred to as your agent, or "attorney-in-fact." Your attorney-in-fact can help ensure that your needs are provided for if you ever become incapacitated due to illness, disability or aging.

There are several different types of Power of Attorney available under the law. Three main types are often used for estate planning purposes:

- A durable power of attorney gives the person you name immediate authority to act on your behalf and take care of your financial transactions. A durable power of attorney contains special provisions allowing it to remain in effect in the event you become mentally incapacitated.
- A health care power of attorney authorizes your attorney-in-fact to make health care decisions for you if you cannot. You'll still have the right to choose your own treatments, even after executing a health care Power of Attorney.

• A springing power of attorney "springs" into effect only if you become incapacitated. So, you could specify a springing durable power of attorney to go into effect only after a doctor certifies that you are mentally incompetent due to illness or an accident.

Preparing Your Document

Most states have standardized the rules governing power of attorney designations, so the required documentation is relatively simple to complete. Typically, the same attorney who drafts your will may also prepare a Power of Attorney. In creating the document, you will need to decide:

• Who should I name as my attorney-in-fact? It is important to select someone you trust implicitly. A spouse, relative or friend can serve as attorney-in-fact. He or she should be someone who knows you well, lives near you and is familiar with financial matters.

• What powers should I grant to my attorney-in-fact? Many people give full financial or health care authority to their attorney-in-fact.

• Gifting and beneficiary designations - The power to make gifts and/or change beneficiaries is normally not included in a Power of Attorney, unless specifically authorized.

You Maintain Control

It's important to remember that giving someone a power of attorney does not prevent you from making your own financial health care decisions.

Newly formed Men's Chorus holding auditions this fall

The Treble Chorus of New England at Merrimack College is proud to announce the formation of The Men's Chorus of New England with Robert Barney as its conductor. The chorus will meet weekly on Tuesday evenings from 5:30 to 7 pm.

All rehearsals will eventually be held at West Parish Church in Andover. Rehearsals will temporarily be held at Cascia Hall on the beautiful campus of Merrimack College in North Andover.

There are opening for Tenors and Basses for recently changed voices as well as for the experienced singer. Performances will be held in conjunction with one of New England's finest children's choir.

The Treble Chorus of New England at Merrimack College. They will perform regularly with the choir's premiere ensemble, The Treble Chorus Schola. Founded 26 years ago by Marie Stultz, Artistic director, this extraordinary children's choir is celebrating its 27th Season.

Featured music for this season will be highlights from the Christmas portion of Handel's Messiah and the moving Frostiana set to texts by Robert Frost composed by Randall Thompson.

For further information or for an audition appointment, call Anne O'Neill at 978-837-5461. The first performance of this newly formed organization will be on November 2, 2001 at 7 pm at the Rogers Center for the Arts on the Merrimack College campus.

Patriotic stamps popular

If you happen to notice more mail is posted with patriotic stamps, it is not an aberration.

Paul W. Lanzi, manager of the Middlesex-Central District, of the U.S. Postal Service, said stamps depicting the flag and Statue of Liberty are the "stamps of choice" for many persons visiting post offices.

The tragic events of last week's terrorist attacks touched off a wave of patriotism the likes of which have not been seen in this country since Pearl Harbor," Lanzi said.

Demand for flags has exceeded supply as people flock to stores to buy the national colors. "Flags are being flown everywhere," Lanzi said, adding, "And you can expect to see more and more letters bearing stamp images of our flag and the Statue of Liberty. This is another example of the way the U.S. Postal Service helps bind the country together."

Linda Monahan, supervisor of accountable paper for the Middlesex-Essex SDO, noted several post offices, stations and branches that order stamps through his office have tripled and even quadrupled their requests for the patriotic stamps. Books of 20 Statue of Liberty stamps "are real scarce," Davis said, and supplies of the "Farm Flag" sheet of 20 stamps have dwindled.

Monahan and Davis are anxiously awaiting replenish-

Winchester welcomes Wargo

"Robert Wargo, 37, is the new high school athletic director, replacing David Berman, who retired at the end of the last school year," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Wargo, who has also been assigned to teach physical education, began serving at the high school during the summer and was formally introduced and welcomed by the School Committee."

"Before coming to Winchester, Wargo, who received a bachelor's degree in general studies, with a concentration in counseling and psychology, from the University of Maryland and a master's degree in school counseling from Northeastern University, worked as athletic director, guidance counselor and health and wellness counselor at the Bromfield School in Harvard."

ment of both items, expected by mid-October. On the other hand, the Honoring Veterans stamp featuring a waving flag will not be reprinted, they said because it is a commemorative stamp and has equaled its total print run.

They noted coils of 100 Statue of Liberty stamps are plentiful.

Open to new worlds: long-range and immediate

"Superintendent Dr. Carol Eaton welcomed him and noted that he comes from a very similar community. 'Everybody is looking forward to his coming and everyone that worked with him has been very pleased,' Eaton said."

"Committee Chairman Peter Haley said he is also looking forward to working with him. He said Winchester has a long history of excellence in athletics. Approximately 66 percent of the students participate in the athletic program, according to Haley."

"We are anxious to engage you in any effort to improve that excellence, he said. 'The more students we can reach, the more we can enrich our programs, the better.'"

"Among Wargo's responsibilities, Haley said, will be program budgeting and the expansion of sports such as baseball, softball and soccer. According to Haley, the girls' hockey pilot team is also interested in being included among the official sports. Haley encouraged Wargo to work on this and also with an interesting proposal coming from John Miller to turn a couple of abandoned tennis courts into basketball courts. 'It's a great opportunity in an unused area,' he said."

"As athletic director of the Bromfield School in Harvard, where he worked for seven Joint Master's Program at Tufts University/Shady Hill School Teacher Training Course and was an eighth grade teacher at the Shady Hill School.

"James M. Coger teaches mathematics. He has a B.A. in Economics and an M.Ed. in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Massachusetts at Lowell. He previously taught math at the Wakefield Middle School."

"Tammy Ann Giles teaches Resource Room. She has a B.A. in Graphic Design from Plymouth State College and an M.Ed. in Moderate Special Needs from Salem State College. She previously was a special education teacher at the Rupert A. Nock Middle School."

"Jessie L. O'Brien teaches Art. She has a BFA degree from the Massachusetts College of Art and a teaching certificate in Art from Salem State College. Since 1997, she has been a teacher of studio design, photography and ceramics at the Academy of Notre Dame."

Towns From S-3

President George W. Bush has named State Representative Brian M. Cresta (R-23rd Middlesex District) as the Secretary's Regional Representative of the United States Department of Health and Human Services for New England," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Upon assuming the new post, Cresta resigned as the State Representative representing the towns of Lynnfield, Middleton and Wakefield."

"I am honored that the Bush Administration and Secretary of Health and Human Services Tommy Thompson have chosen me to lead this agency for New England. I look forward to this new challenge," stated Representative Cresta.

"The Department of Health and Human Services is the United States government's principal agency for protecting the health of all Americans, and providing essential human services, especially those who are least able to help themselves.

"Many of the issues that I first ran on in 1994 have been accomplished. We have been able to successfully pass a reform to the welfare system, dramatically lower the tax burden in the state, increase by billions of dollars our commitment to education, and lead the nation in providing access to quality health care," stated Cresta. "In addition, many of the important local projects like school construction, roadway improvements and the protection of open space have all received a strong level of support from the Legislature."

"The decision to take on this new role was surely not an easy one for me to make. However, I can leave knowing that I accomplished my goals for the great people of this district," added Cresta. "I will always be grateful for the opportunity the people of Lynnfield, Middleton and Wakefield gave to me. It has been a great honor...."

Not quite Scott free

"The towns of Wilmington and Burlington have entered into a purchase-and-sale agreement with the current owners of the Clapp's Mill area," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"Both municipalities and the Scott family, who owns the property, have agreed on a price of $400,000 for the land, which covers approximately seven acres, a percentage of which is in Wilmington, with the rest in Burlington."

"A key player in the transaction has been the Trust for Public Land. However, that organization now plans to step aside and let Wilmington and Burlington and the Scotts resolve the final details."

"Among those details is Wilmington's share of the purchase price. Such matters are to be discussed between Town Manager Michael Cairra and Burlington Town Administrator Robert Mercier."

"Wilmington residents and administrators are slated to discuss the property in terms of its expense and availability for open space when the community holds a special town meeting on Monday, October 29."

Right on, TASC!

"TASC donated 41 used cell phones to the Reading police department, which will turn them over to the Jane Doe Society for the elderly, shut-ins and others in need," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"All phones will be able to dial 911 for emergency aid. The phones were donated by TASC employees from around the country."

"TASC also presented a check for $1,000 to the Reading Police Athletic League to promote youth programs and other police department activities."

METCO looks ahead

"Superintendent of Schools Dr. Richard Palermo explained METCO's long range plan at a recent School Committee Meeting," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"Dr. Palermo was a member of the METCO long range planning committee which met from September of 2000 to June 2001. Dr. Palermo was one of only two superintendents on the committee."

"METCO's long range plan will run for five years and include four main goals which are academic excellence, funding, organization and communication of METCO, Inc., and program evaluation and accountability."

"METCO's first goal is for participating districts to enhance their curriculum and instructional practices, stress team learning and provide demanding academic curricula and remedial courses when necessary in order to eliminate achievement differences between urban students of color and suburban students by June 30, 2006."

"METCO is hoping to raise the standard of learning for METCO students by developing a coordinated effort across the METCO school districts to evaluate and implement practices that positively affect student achievement."

"The second METCO goal is to have reliable, equitable funding among the districts to achieve their goals including program expansion."

"Current funding for METCO districts is unclear, inequitable, uncertain, and inadequate and are reflective of a political climate and no focuses on promoting integrated education, according to the METCO committee."

Legislators and the Department of Education have heard the complaints about METCO and specifically funding," explained Dr. Palermo. "It is clear that the program should continue to exist."

MOVIE REVIEWS

BY PAUL FEELY

"Zoolander" enjoyable, Short Takes

MOVIE: "ZOOLANDER"
GRADE: ****

Review: The fashion industry has been lampooned countless times on the silver screen, which is why it is somewhat surprising that Ben Stiller has found a way to do it yet again in an inventive way.

Stiller brings the character of Derek Zoolander, a male model he created for a short sketch on VH1 years ago, to the big screen in a film filled with cameos from the world of fashion and pop culture, including models Claudia Schiffer and Heidi Klum, designer Tommy Hilfiger, and Fred Durst of Limp Bizkit.

The story centers around the idea that the fashion world has been behind every assassination of a political figure in the past 200 years.

Zoolander must stop the planned shooting of the prime minister of Malaysia, while also fighting off the efforts of rival male model Hansel, played by Owen

Wilson. The film is filled with enough jokes that work, which balances off the ones that simply fall flat.

SHORTTAKES
MOVIE: "THE MUSKETEER"
GRADE: *****

Review: The classic tale by Alexandre Dumas is retold here once again on the big screen, though in way you probably have never seen before.

The story is reimagined as a tale of action and adventure in the style of a Jackie Chan film, with swordplay interspersed with innovative action scenes on ladders and balconies.

The story itself remains the same, for the most part, but the action sequences are worth the price of admission.

MOVIE: "HARDBALL"
GRADE: *****

Review: The ad campaign for 'Hardball' tries to sell it as a new version of 'The Bad News Bears', but that idea doesn't truly do this film justice.

"Hardball" contains a lot of emotion, with strong performances turned in by Keanu Reeves and the children on the inner-city baseball team he coaches.

Reeves plays a gambler who is convinced to coach the team, and learns many life lessons along the way. Where 'Bad News Bears' was played mostly for laughs, 'Hardball' isn't afraid to thrust the characters, and the audience, into many teary situations.

This is not a feel-good movie exactly, but you will walk out of the theater glad that you spent some time with these characters.

MOVIE: "ROCKSTAR"
GRADE: ****

Review: Mark Wahlberg reprises the same basic character he played in 'Boogie Nights' in this ode to the excess of the world of rock music in the 1980s.

Whereas Wahlberg played an unknown who rose to superstardom in the world of porn in 'Nights', here he plays an unknown who rises to the pinnacle of rock and roll when he is asked to become the lead singer of his favorite band, Steel Dragon. His character, Chris Cole, is a copy machine repairman who sings in a Steel Dragon tribute band at night, and when the groups lead singer quits, he gets the chance to live out his dream.

His girlfriend and manager, played by Jennifer Aniston, is at first very supportive of his success, but soon the excesses that come with it become too much for her to take. But anyone in the theater can see that the film is headed for a happy ending, and that love will win in the end.

The movie tries to be funny, but isn't able to skewer the rock world like 'This is Spinal Tap' did. The live performance sequences are very good, and the soundtrack will bring back memories for any headbangers out there.

MOVIE: "JAY AND SILENT BOB STRIKE BACK"
GRADE: *****

Review: Director Kevin Smith creates an early Christmas present for fans of his earlier movies in this dead-on skewering of himself and Hollywood.

Smith's film is filled with references and characters from his earlier cult hits like 'Clerks', 'Mallrats', and 'Chasing Amy'. Many of the same actors also return, playing either major characters or in cameo roles, as Smith successfully pokes fun at how Hollywood has gotten too big for its britches, caring more about the weekly box office grosses than the quality of the product it splashes across America's movie screens.

The plot centers around the two lovable stoners from each of Smith's previous movies, Jay and Silent Bob, who catch wind that a Hollywood studio is planning on making a movie on a comic book series they have created. They realize they aren't 'seeing a dime' from this venture, and they set out to turn Tinseltown on its ear until they are paid, with the expected number of misadventures occurring along their trip from New Jersey to California.

The dialogue is crisp, funny, and insightful, exactly what any fans of his earlier films would expect, and true fans may want to invest in multiple viewings to ensure they don't miss any of the inside references.

STONEHAM TOWN DAY - Representatives of Carlson GMAC Real Estate and GMAC Mortgage Company, left to right Greta Ghiozzi, Rick Capobianco and Kim Scarpa, enjoy the sun and a magnificent view of Stoneham's new U. S. Flag hanging on the Town Hall at the recent highly successful Stoneham Town Day.

MOVIE: "AMERICAN PIE 2"
GRADE: ****

Review: The whole gang from 'American Pie' are back for this one, and the second serving is just as tasty as the first, if not as fresh.

'Pie 2' is the funniest movie of the summer thus far, and it succeeds by taking the same type of crude, lewd and rude humor that made the first film such a hit, and expanding on it. Jim (played by Jason Biggs) is back and as attracted as ever to foreign exchange student Nadia (Shannon Elizabeth), Oz (Chris Klein) is still dating Heather (Mena Suvari), Finch (Eddie Kaye Thomas) is still too sophisticated for his own good, Kevin (Thomas Ian Nicholas) and Vicky (Tara Reid) have broken up but are attempting to be friends and Michelle (played by Alyson Hannigan) still has a fetish for musical instruments.

In fact, about the only character that has changed is Stifler (played to the hilt again by Seann William Scott), who has become even more obnoxious the second time around, if that's possible.

The plot revolves around the boys renting a beach house to spend time together after their first year in college, and the various sexual escapades and hijinks they once again become involved in. The jokes work just as well as the first one, and the cast meshes like lifelong friends should.

CAT TAILS

Your cat may chase its tail while playing, or swish it defiantly when angry.

The tail may be pompom-like, as on the Japanese Bobtail, or long and slender like the Siamese. It may be long and thick like the Turkish Angora or medium-length like the British Shorthair.

The Manx is the best-known tailless breed. Your cat's tail may help it with balance and provide a way to exhibit anger or aggression, but little functional explanations for the tail have been discovered.

Many are marked with contrasting-colored rings and tips which some believe serve to highlight a threat or impending pounce when they are swished.

Never pull a cat's tail as it can damage the spinal cord.

We are known for our dedicated staff and the caring attention given to your pets, our patients. For all your veterinary needs, visit us at: BLUESTONE VETERINARY CLINIC 134 Water Street, Wakefield 781-245-4404

A complete and accurate exchange of information enables us to provide the proper treatment for your pet.

P.S. Taillessness results from a spinal defect, so it is important not to breed two completely tailless cats.

Real Estate Sampler

Palatial contemporary with character

This week's sampler is a 10 room contemporary style home boasting approximately 4,800 sq. ft. of living space. Definitely contemporary in style, this palatial masterpiece is soft and warm offering a legendary lifestyle for you to enjoy. Set on an extensively landscaped acre plus lot, complete with in-ground sprinklers and abutting town owned land to the north and the east, it is at the end of the street in an area of million dollar homes.

As you enter, you too will be impressed with the brick walk and 12 foot wide brick stairs leading to the double front doors. Once inside, you notice the gleaming hardwood floors that greet you in the reception foyer. There is a guest half bath with pedestal sink and ceramic tile floor nearby. To the right is a formal living room with vaulted ceilings enhanced by two remote skylights, oversized Anderson windows and fireplace. Open on three sides to allow the warmth and glow of winter fires to be visible from the sunken family room with wetbar leading to the formal dining room with additional two remote skylights, the contemporary lifestyle of great room living is ideal for entertaining. Off the side of the family room is an atrium door to a side deck that offers a perfect spot to sit and enjoy the solitude of your surroundings.

The white cabinet kitchen offers designer countertop, trash compactor, dishwasher, cooktop, wall oven and built-in microwave. All surrounded by ceramic backsplash and flooring. The kitchen opens to a solarium and breakfast room with two story wall of glass. This is an ideal place to plan your days activities or reflect upon them in the evening. The atrium door leads to an oversized deck and luscious lawn area. The 5-year-old septic was installed in the rear left hand corner of the backyard allowing for a future pool area in the right rear portion of the yard, according to the seller.

The first floor also features three generous sized bedrooms, all with mirrored closets and wall to wall carpeting. There is a full bath and self-contained separate laundry center, all in showplace condition.

The oak stairway that leads to the second floor is bright and sunny due to the remote skylight that is overhead. Once on the second floor, you enter through the double doors to the master suite; there is no doubt that this home has been maintained with exquisite detail, quality and decor. There is dramatic high ceiling heights, a skylight lounge area, and glass door to catwalk across the vaulted living and family rooms to the second floor exterior balcony.

The master bedroom dressing area with oversized walk in closet features a cedar closet, multiple linen closets and glass doors to a balcony leading to circular oak stairs in the two-story solarium. The opulent master bath boasts private water closet, steam room, exquisite marble Jacuzzi surround, floor and double sink area with 4 additional remote skylights.

The lower level is fully finished with an oversized 3 car garage, which often houses 4 vehicles, an oversized family room with a rare setup of 10 basement skylights, a full bath and separate fifth bedroom of home office. There is an excellent setup for extended family living arrangements.

The exterior siding is vertical cedar siding with architectural roof shingles; the heat is forced hot air by oil with 3 zone central air conditioning. There is a water filtration system, security system, intercom, two 80 gallon hot water heaters, three electric garage door openers, and many more features of the precision craftsmanship that was put into this home when it was built in 1987.

The current owners say the location is spectacular throughout the four seasons: the solitude of summer shrubbery, bright and crisp fall colors the snow covered branches of winter and the signs of new life each and every spring will remind you of the reasons that we live in New England, to truly enjoy the full calendar year.

This wonderful home is currently offered at $789,900 by Dave O'Neil at Century 21 Spindler & O'Neil and can be seen by calling 978-664-1094 or 781-944-2100.

Fall's a great time to stain your deck

Because the spring and summer months are typically the most hectic times of the year with vacations and outdoor activities, it's difficult for many of us to find the time to give our decks the attention they deserve.

According to Pat Coughlin of The Flood Company, makers of stains, finishes and exterior wood care products for more than 150 years, time is usually the number one reason for putting off deck maintenance.

"If you had a busy summer and couldn't find the time to care for your deck - it's not too late," says Coughlin. "Fall offers a nice change in pace, both with time and weather."

Coughlin suggests allowing yourself two or three consecutive days of good weather to care for your deck. If your deck is new, consider using Flood's Seasonite New Wood Treatment to protect wood during its vulnerable first year.

An immediate application of Seasonite to new decks, or even siding and fencing, provides a steady weathering process that controls the movement of moisture into and out of the wood. This will help prevent warping, cupping and splitting of unprotected wood.

If you're looking to stain your deck before the winter months, try SemiTransparent and Solid Color Deck and Siding Stains that penetrate deep into the wood to give a lasting protection against excessive moisture and colder temperatures.

For a free Can-Do guide to wood care, call The Flood Company at 1-800-321-3444 or visit their Web Site at www.floodco.com.

Great room, extra space cater to modern tastes

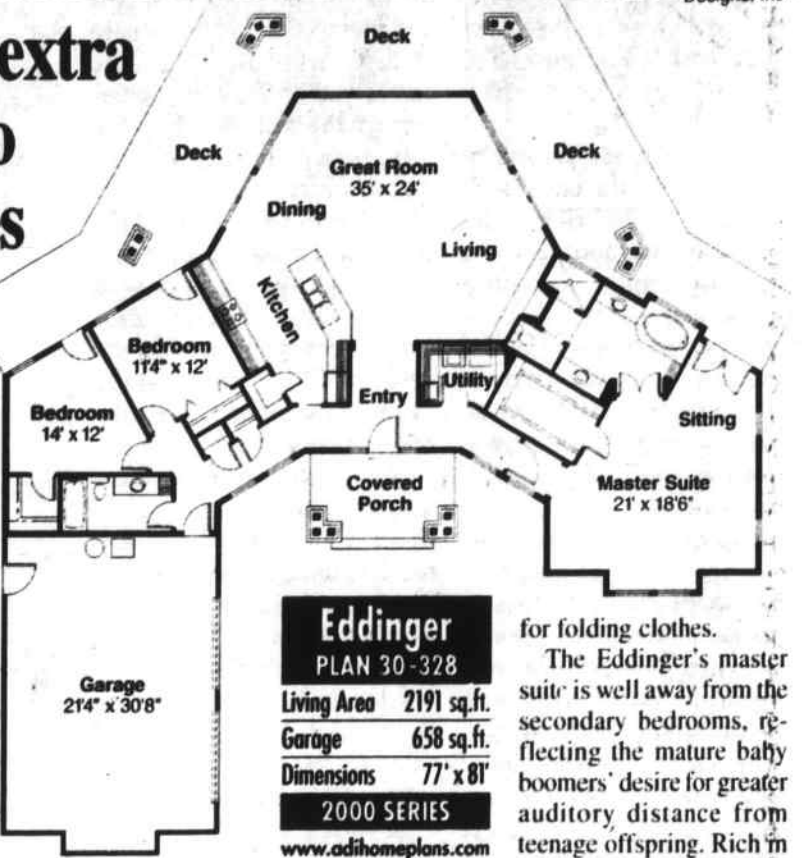

By Associated Designs

The Eddinger's ample size is typical of new homes today. The average home size has grown by approximately 200 square feet since Associated Designs began weekly columns, 10 years ago.

Just a few steps inside this home, you can begin enjoying the panoramic view. Windows fill most of the rear-facing walls in the expansive hexagonal great room that forms the core of this handsome midsize home. A wide-hearth fireplace stands ready to provide warmth and color when darkness falls. Great rooms have gained in popularity over the last decade, while the separate parlor and family room have fallen out of favor.

Shake siding and tapered stone veneer masonry help this home blend easily into a forested or other natural setting. At the same time, the plan is equally well-suited to a wide city lot with an attractive back yard.

Families that enjoy outdoor living will find plenty of space to do it on the broad, partially covered deck that sweeps across the entire rear. Lounge chairs, picnic tables, porch swings, potted plants, a hot tub - there's space for all these and more.

Even from inside, it's easy to enjoy the view. The kitchen is fully open to the great room, separated only by a peninsula counter. This openness, too, is a strong trend. Family and friends who aren't helping in the kitchen will enjoy hanging out along the extended conversation bar. Counter and cupboard space are amply supplied, and a generous walk-in pantry adds still more storage capacity.

Laundry appliances are nearby in a fully outfitted utility room complete with a deep sink, storage shelves, cupboards, and a counter walk-in closet, twin vanities, oversized shower, soaking tub, and private water closet, plus direct access to the deck through a set of exterior doors.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artist's conception, send $25 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402. Please specify the Eddinger 30-328 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring over 350 home plans is available for $15. For more information, call (800) 634-0123.
